ps Will Need at least Three Weeks to Organize Force

lately Small U. S. Losses Can Be Filled For Round Three

Washington, Nov. 19—(AP)—The Japanese will need at least three weeks and possibly more to pull themselves together for another try at Guadalcanal.

That was the considered opinion of naval experts today after detailed analysis of the staggering losses in ships, men and equipment suffered by the enemy in the week's rout.

These authorities, who asked to remain anonymous, were interested in the Japanese, but not unduly excited by the appearance of eight Japanese destroyers off the north coast of Guadalcanal yesterday. They felt it was to be expected that such task forces would be sent from time to time.

In the meantime, the delay will give the United States forces an opportunity to replace their relatively small losses and build up strength for what Secretary of War Henry Stimson labeled round three of the battle for the islands.

In fact, it would not be surprising to many informed persons if the Marines and Army troops on Guadalcanal took aggressive advantage of the enemy's predicament to improve their own positions which still encompass a small area of land about 10 miles from the north coast of the island.

Japs Outnumbered

The latest report on land fighting on Guadalcanal, covering activities Nov. 10, said the United States troops were conducting offensive operations on both their eastern and western flanks. The failure of the Japanese, already outnumbered, to land any considerable reinforcements in their big push Thursday, Friday and Saturday would seem to leave their defenses open to attack; especially if it will be difficult if not impossible for them to obtain substantial supplies for some time to come.

The effect on future operations of the blow dealt the Japanese at sea as naval men here estimate must be measured not only in ships sunk but also in men and aerialists lost. Eleven warships, eight transports were sunk, four cargo vessels which the Japanese had beached were destroyed in the battle. Seven warships were damaged.

Many Japs Killed

Out of the sinking of eight transports involved the loss not only of the ships but also of thousands of men who were to have been used in a gigantic drive to overwhelm the Americans on Guadalcanal. Estimates by the Navy put the total number of Japanese killed in the battle at 20,000 to 30,000 men.

Even this does not tell the whole story. For such an army must have huge stores of supplies and ammunition for even a brief limited campaign.

Those familiar with the problems of collecting and equipping a force as the Japs lost say it requires weeks of the most carefully coordinated effort in the island arsenal as well as at bases from which the attack was launched.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Cairo, Nov. 19.—Major offensives like the allied drives to destroy the axis in north Africa draw their striking power from many sources and present operations are getting great strength from a strategic development which has been achieved so quietly that many of its features still remain secret.

Since this is likely to play an increasingly important part in the Mediterranean campaign, it is necessary that we know something of it.

So if you'll dig out your maps of Africa I will show you what I mean.

Now, if you will flip a dime towards the heart of the Dark Continent, and you are a fair shot, it will fall close to a big panel known as French Equatorial Africa.

That is the Fighting French territory, which has Chad on the north and reaches southward to include Ubangi-Shari, the French Cameroons, the Middle Congo and Gabon. Brazzaville, way down on the Lower Congo, is the Capital of this huge area which pokes its hot nose close to the Equator and likes it.

French General Mangin once remarked that he who holds Chad, holds Africa. A map will help you get the significance of this statement in part, but you've got to see the recent works of man in this still largely primitive vastness to understand it in full.

First off, you will note on your maps that if French Equatorial Africa had been controlled by Vichy, as was adjoining French West Africa, there would have been a huge barrier dividing allied territory right through the whole area almost from the Equator to the Mediterranean.

Chad, which lies against Italian Libya, is the military key to this part of Africa.

Fighting French leaders foresaw Hitler's plan to use north Africa to gain domination of the Mediterranean and, right after the fall of France, moved to secure control of Chad.

This key position was under the powerful governorship of General

Discovered

Reading, Pa., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Santa Claus came early for Albert Pfennig, 5, and Skipper Komodi, 4.

They disappeared. Police searched the city for five hours—and finally found them in the Pfennig attic playing with toys that Albert wasn't supposed to discover until Christmas.

Search for Slayer of Wisconsin Game Official Continues

Supervisor of Forest in Northern Part of State Slain by Stranger

Kingsford, Wis., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Search for the slayer of Albert E. Reif, 33-year-old supervisor of Kettle Moraine forest, widened through two states today as Sheriff Anthony Grel announced that he was convinced the killer's car was not abandoned in Florence county.

Reif was killed in a gun fight on the Wisconsin-Michigan border yesterday when he and a companion, State Conservation Warden Floyd Sanders, questioned a man about some shots they heard in the woods. (The deer season is open in Michigan, but not in Wisconsin.)

A clue furnished by Sanders, who said the gunman mentioned he was a resident of Pentaga, Mich., proved groundless. Sheriff Grel said he made a thorough investigation in Pentaga, with Michigan state police, and was convinced the story was not true.

Reif was killed about 50 yards off U. S. highway 2 in Wisconsin, but about 3 miles northwest of Iron Mountain, Mich., when he and Sanders questioned a man in a

Committee Denies FDR Sought Power

Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The house ways and means committee moved ahead today to prepare compromise legislation giving the president limited authority to suspend tariff and immigration laws though high government officials had testified in favor of a broad grant of power as requested by Roosevelt.

The committee voted yesterday to table the measure giving the president power to suspend at any time during the war any laws or regulations governing the movement across American borders of persons, property, or information, and ordered a subcommittee to draft substitute legislation.

This action was taken after a war department representative, appearing along with Attorney General Biddle and other high officials favoring the broad legislation, told the committee "all out of war cannot be successfully prosecuted under narrow and specific legislation."

Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) told reporters there was no chance of getting the original measure through congress because it was "broader in its scope than is necessary."

44 Insane Inmates of State Hospital Die of Food Poison

400 Other Men, Women Ill; Frozen Eggs Are Suspected

Salem, Ore., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Forty-four insane inmates of the Oregon state hospital have died from an unidentified poison—possibly contained in frozen eggs—and a corps of physicians struggled today to save the lives of more than 400 other men and women.

Dr. Evans said he believed most of the 400, many of them violently ill, "have a chance for recovery."

Within 15 minutes after yesterday's evening meal victims began complaining of violent cramps. Within an hour came the first death and by 10 p. m., five hours after the meal, 10 had died.

Dr. Evans said he believed that frozen eggs served scrambled at the meal contained a poison possibly as the result of a chemical reaction. The eggs, the superintendent said, were obtained from the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation.

Describes Reaction

Dr. Evans described the reaction of the victims this way: "They had nausea, vomited blood, and showed evidence of an acute toxic condition. Respiratory paralysis and violent cramps in the legs preceded death."

"Those who were not strong passed out immediately and died."

L. E. Barrick, Marion county coroner, called for an immediate investigation.

All the deaths, 38 men and six women, occurred in four wards. Inmates of a fifth were ill, Dr. Evans said, but an attendant there tasted the eggs before they were served and allowed only a small amount to be eaten.

The superintendent said that a third of the two-ton shipment of eggs had been served previously without ill effects. They were received two or three months ago from the government agency, packed in two gallon tin containers and were frozen enroute from Portland in a refrigerator truck.

Bowery Vagrants Fall Into Clutches of War

New York, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The war reached into the Bowery today, as the city called on the men of the flophouses to lay off the cheap liquor and get into useful war work.

Up and down the dingy street of dirty saloons, special police squads kept a sharp eye open for men whom some call bums and some say are gentlemen who reside on the Bowery. Some of the vagrants took it with a shrug; others seemed willing to gamble with work.

In the opening drive to clean up the Bowery and fashion new war workers, the police pulled 202 vagrants, including two women, into precincts last night to prepare them for court appearance.

Some had no draft registration cards. Many were too old for the draft. Ten boasted of working in skilled trades in happier days. Chief Magistrate Henry H. Curran said that the aim of the magistrates before whom the Bowery folk would be arraigned would be to "hook them up with jobs."

New York Mechanic Guilty of Treason; Faces Death Penalty

New York, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Anthony Cramer may have to pay with his life for help he gave two of eight men who landed from Nazi submarines to wage a campaign of terror and sabotage.

The 42-year-old New York mechanic was convicted of treason last night by a federal jury on charges that he met, aided and comforted recently executed Werner Thiel and Edward J. Kerlin of the contingent of would be saboteurs that landed in Florida; and made false statements to the FBI.

The conviction—third of its kind in 148 years—carries sentence ranging from five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine to death. Judge Henry W. Goddard will pass sentence Wednesday.

Don't Travel

Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The Office of Defense Transportation launched a nationwide "Don't Travel" campaign today.

Joseph B. Eastman, director of ODT, said the "Don't Travel" appeal was designed to focus attention of the American public on the gravity of the passenger transportation problem.

"The time is here," he said, "when all the American people must understand, what many of them now realize, that unnecessary travel can do real and serious harm to the war effort."

He said overcrowding on many rail and bus lines has already become serious, and with inter-city travel by passenger automobile almost out of the picture and troop movements increasing "conditions will become much worse, unless the American public comes to the rescue."

Laval Made Virtual Dictator of France; Stormy Days Ahead

French Military Aid to Axis Seen as Likely Result of Move

(By The Associated Press) London Nov. 19.—(AP)—Fighting French sources forecast today a full military alliance between Germany and Vichy France, granting the axis the use of the 64 ships in the fleet at Toulon as one possible outcome of Pierre Laval's new dictatorial powers.

Such an alliance, if it develops, probably would follow a peace treaty between Germany and France releasing more than 1,000,000 French prisoners who likely would be recalled into French armed services, these sources suggested.

Backed by German bayonets, Laval held powers of life and death over the people of unhappy France today through the Vichy government's latest gesture toward the Nazi conquerors.

It was disclosed last night that Marshal Petain at a Tuesday cabinet meeting designated the swart little Germanophile his heir as chief of state and gave him full powers to write his own laws and decrees.

The Paris radio said Laval would transfer the government to Paris. The announcer quoted a statement by Marcel Deat, collaborationist publisher saying:

"Vichy has become a symbol of all that is rotten. The government must be stripped of the barely camouflaged De Gaulle which reigned in Vichy two years."

British political observers were quick to declare that extended powers for Laval—whose fortunes and very life are pinned to his often affirmed belief in an ultimate axis triumph—were a "logical development." They said it showed definitely that the octogenarian Petain "is completely in the hands of the Germans and they put Laval in."

In the official Vichy announcement, the 86-year-old marshal praised Laval for "patriotism and"

Jeffers Seeking to Keep US on Rubber

Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Opposing legislation which he said might hamper his program, Rubber Administrator William M. Jeffers told the senate banking committee today that he was trying to get as many tires recapped as possible to "keep the country on rubber."

This was essential, he said, because "failure to keep the country on rubber would be equivalent to a military disaster."

The committee is considering a proposal that some 300,000 small business men be given, by law, all the retail tire business, including sale, repair and recapping, but Jeffers testified he thought "it would be a mistake to attempt any legislation until we get further along in the program so that we can get some idea of what is occurring."

Senator Ellender (D-La.) has contended that small independent business men need protection from what he called the "destructive competition" of manufacturer-owned stores.

"I very much favor keeping the small businessman in business," Jeffers said, adding that he had included representatives of independent tire-dealers in his administration.

But he said it was "anybody's guess" how many extra tires would be turned in by car owners, that he had figures "all the way from 1,000,000 to 12,000,000" and "guessed it would be midway—about 6,000,000."

Rickenbacker's Base Is Military Secret

Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson expressed hope today that Captain Eddie Rickenbacker would be able to continue his air force survey mission to the southwest Pacific after he recovers from effects of his three weeks afloat on a raft in the Pacific.

In the meantime Stimson told reporters he did not propose to annoy the World War ace with questions and is relying on him to give details of his rescue at his convenience.

"For obvious reasons," Stimson told his press conference, the identity of the island base where Rickenbacker and some other members of his rescued crew were taken has not been disclosed.

The war department has already given out all details known here.

Misprints

Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Misprinted registration blanks caused no end of confusion amid registration for gasoline rationing in Lake county today. Paul King, county rationing administrator reported.

He said thousands of blanks, apparently, were wrongly printed on one page, the top half being where the bottom half should be and vice versa. Thus, if such blanks were used, when the tire inspection portion was torn off and handed to the car owner, the rationing board would be left with a record which did not show the owner's name or license number.

King said that out of the one shipment of 6,000 blanks to Lake county, more than 1,000 were misprinted. Hundreds of motorists, he said, obtained the bad blanks in advance, filled them out and then when they appeared at the registration places, expecting to register quickly, discovered they had to do it all over again on proper blanks.

Allies Batter Nazi Patrols in Opening Clashes in Tunisia

Africa Forces in Northern Africa Are Now Facing Fourway Squeeze

By ROGER D. GREENE Associated Press War Editor

Across 1,000 miles of arid desert, Fighting French columns from Lake Chad were reported driving toward the "back door" of Italian Tripolitania today as part of a fourway squeeze on axis forces in north Africa while American and British troops struck deeper into Tunisia.

Lake Chad is in the heart of French Equatorial Africa, about 1,200 miles south of the Mediterranean.

German military quarters said the first land clash between German and allied troops in Tunisia had taken place along the Tunisian coast just inside the border from Algeria.

While allied dispatches said United Nations troops swept back outlying axis patrols, Nazi quarters merely commented that advance forces met and that no major fighting developed.

Other allied forces were converging against the last axis strongholds on the Dark Continent as follows:

Troop Movements

1. A powerful British-American expeditionary force estimated at 150,000 troops was thrusting into northern Tunisia along the Mediterranean coast from Algeria.

2. A second column was reported to have entered southern Tunisia from Algeria in a move to cut across the axis-held French protectorate and cut the road to Tripolitania.

3. Coupled with these drives from the west, the British 8th Army from Egypt was rapidly pursuing Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's broken Africa Corps across Libya toward Tripolitania.

British Imperial headquarters reported today that vanguard troops of the 8th Army were in contact yesterday with the retreating axis south of Bengasi after an advance of more than 70 miles in 24 hours.

Dispatches from Cairo said British troops had raced to a point 50 miles south of Bengasi—near the highwater mark of the first westward drive across Libya—and were slashing at axis rearguards within 15 miles of the Gulf of Sirte.

This would place the British within 110 miles of the El Agheila bottleneck between Cirenaica and Italian Tripolitania.

The advance indicated that at least part of the British 8th Army had bypassed Bengasi and was now threatening the only avenue of escape for any holdout garrison Rommel might have left there.

Bengasi is 160 miles northeast of El Agheila, on the base of the Libyan hump, where Marshal Rommel is expected to attempt a lastditch stand in the narrow corridor between boggy salt marshes and the sea.

May Abandon Bengasi

The British communiqué did not state whether Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's triumphant armies had captured or bypassed Bengasi, once a major port of supply for Rommel's Africa Corps.

It seemed probable, however, that Rommel was abandoning the port in his headlong flight toward El Agheila.

On the western flank of the giant allied "pincer," Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters reported that the first phase of the battle for strategic Tunisia, buffer state between Algeria and Tripolitania, had begun.

"Advance elements of the British First Army, together with British and American parachute troops and French forces operating with us, have entered Tunisia at several points," Gen. Eisenhower announced.

Without detail, despatches said the allied paratroops had occupied several strategic places.

Bizerte Bombed

American Flying Fortresses of Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle's command pounded the axis-held naval base at Bizerte in a daylight raid.

Bizerte and Tunis, the capital, are main bases for the arrival of axis air-borne reinforcements.

A broadcast from American-occupied Algiers said a force "of considerable strength" was driving north into the Libyan desert from Fighting French bases at Lake Chad.

Meanwhile, in the face of bad news everywhere in the north African theater, axis propagandists

Boom in Bible Business Proof that Nation at War Is Turning to Prayer

Chicago, Nov. 19.—(AP)—There's a boom in the Bible business—quite convincing proof that a nation at war is seeking solace in prayer.

But the mothers, wives and sweethearts of the men in the armed forces aren't the only buyers of the Bibles, says an authority on the distribution of the Testaments and Gospels. They're being sold to all classes of people, and sales this year, he said, probably would be 25 per cent more than in 1941.

Dr. Robert Taylor, executive secretary of the Chicago Bible Society and representative of the American Bible Society, termed the condition "an amazing Bible revival," and said that "America is discovering the Bible again."

"It isn't just a flareup caused by the war but is the result of a real spiritual renaissance which has been coming on for some time but has been quickened by the war."

He said that many of the large publishing firms were weeks behind in their orders and that the American Bible Society, which normally distributes 10,000,000 copies annually, is running several days behind schedule.

The tempo of orders, Dr. Taylor said, began to rise last spring and the increase "has constantly accelerated until it is hard to control."

As evidence of the upswing in business, he pointed to the distribution of 1,500,000 Bibles and portions in 12 central states last year as compared to the 2,500,000 expected to be sent out this year.

The Weather

THURSDAY, NOV. 19, 1942 Illinois: Showers and somewhat colder north and central portions tonight and Friday forenoon; fresh moderately strong winds.

LOCAL WEATHER For the 24 hours ending at 6:00 p. m. (Central War Time) Wednesday—maximum temperature 60, minimum 33; part cloudy.

Friday—sun rises at 7:40 (CWT), sets at 5:41.

Alaska Highway, Pushed 1,681 Miles Through Wilderness, Opened Friday

Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, Nov. 19.—(AP)—A ribbon of red, white and blue will be slashed and flung to the Arctic wind Friday, opening the Alaska highway.

Between the colors of the United States and Canada will roll an Army truck manned by two soldiers from the ranks, to be followed by cars bearing civil and military officials of the two nations. This will be the vanguard of a series of mighty convoys—convoys safe from submarines and all but immune to air attack—which will move north toward Japan.

Dignitaries of Canada and Alaska will join the jubilant northwest service corps in celebrating the epochal engineering feat of the war, a road pushed 1,681 miles through one of the world's great wildernesses in seven months and seventeen days.

Originally planned to be only nine feet wide, it was found practicable to make the road twice that width and still maintain construction pace of eight miles a day. Two hundred streams had to be bridged, vast areas of treacherous muskeg had to be crossed.

Much of the construction was through mountains, but surveyors found one of the lowest passes in the Continental Divide, 4,212 feet in altitude.

Soils of Illinois Depleted of Tons of Rich Materials

Agronomist Tells of Need of Potassium and Phosphorus

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Illinois soils will be drained of 112 million pounds of phosphorus and potassium by the record-breaking 1942 soybean crop, Dr. W. L. Burlison, head of the department of agronomy, University of Illinois, declared at the soil improvement conference of the Illinois Agricultural Association meeting here today in the Hotel Sherman.

To replace these materials, 100,000 tons of rock phosphate and 100,000 tons of muriate of potash would be required, Dr. Burlison explained. The problem confronting us all is that of getting phosphate material on the soil in sufficient quantities and with sufficient availability to take care of all present and near future needs as is possible and economical with sound agronomic practice, the speaker said.

"Our present recommendations should not be as to throw present working programs and possible supplies out of gear with the whole war effort. In the light of this we should say: use all the rock phosphate for phosphate deficient soils that it is possible to apply at an economical rate for quickly promoting greater legume hay and pasture growth. In addition, assure maximum yields of all grain crops by supplying additional applications of soluble superphosphate at planting time in so far as the materials are available."

Potassium Taxed

Three-fourths of the 112 million pounds of plant food removed from the soils of the state by soybeans was potassium, Dr. Burlison said. With more widespread use of limestone and phosphate and a greater per cent of land in legumes, such high-yielding crops as hybrid corn and soybeans are taxing to the very limit the supply power for potassium of even our better dark-colored soils.

"The time seems not very far distant when it will be necessary to supply potash fertilizers to most of our soils in order to insure maximum production. The time can be pushed ahead some and the requirements of the soils greatly reduced by careful conservation of every possible source of potassium in crop residues and animal manures."

In regard to nitrogen, Dr. Burlison pointed out that nitrogen-replenishing methods are now subject to the influence of a wartime economy. Munitions are rapidly absorbing the supplies of chemical nitrogen, and there will be no chemical nitrogen to supply the increased needs. Increasing the nitrogen-supplying power of the soil, therefore, is the most important soil fertility problem confronting Illinois farmers. There must be sufficient legume residues to supply nitrogen requirements. Legume crops should be kept in balance with the other crops and fertilizer requirements should be met as effectively as possible.

War-time Problems

There are also some wartime problems in connection with securing limestone. Dr. Burlison said. During the past year several of the large limestone quarries have diverted all of their production to war plants. However, the bulk of the demand for stone for war plants will have been satisfied by the end of the year. A shortage of labor for these quarries and delays in getting repairs will probably become more serious as the war continues. Heavy demands on the railroads for wartime shipping may interfere with deliveries of limestone especially during the peak limestone season. The problem of maintaining a trucking service for limestone is likely to be the most acute. The problem of keeping limestone and phosphate moving from the quarries and mines to the farm is a real challenge to the Illinois Agricultural Association and the University of Illinois, Dr. Burlison said. While progress has been made in the liming program of the state, there is still a long way to go, he said. Six million acres have been limed, but there are still some 11 million acres of crop land and several million acres of pasture land that need to be limed if this land is to produce its share of food and if it is to contribute to a permanent and profitable agriculture after the war.

J. E. Lamar, geologist and head of the industrial minerals division of the state geological survey division, discussing sources of agricultural limestone in Illinois, said the aim of his division was to assist and cooperate with any and all future developments of Illinois limestone resources as sources of agricultural limestone, as well as for other purposes.

John R. Spencer, director of soil improvement for the IAA was in charge of the conference.

Says Midwest Must Ration Oil to Aid East's Consumers

Chicago, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Joel Dean, director of the fuel rationing division of the Office of Price Administration, told the Chicago Association of Commerce in a speech prepared for delivery here that the Midwest must ration its gasoline and oil to make stocks available for the petroleum-starved east.

Although North African expeditionary forces have been draining petroleum products from the United States at a rate exceeding "any figure that might have been estimated in advance," he said, the problem is not so much one of abundance as of availability.

To make additional stocks available to the eastern seaboard, he continued, large midwestern stores must be shipped to short-age areas and pipeline and barge terminals planned to serve the Midwest must become points of origin for shipments to the east coast.

Reserves Doubtful
Dean said to meet this drain larger reserve stocks would become necessary in the Midwest. Improbability that stocks in midwestern markets can be replenished on regular schedule, to compensate for shipments to the east, make increased reserves doubly necessary, he added.

"The only way in which the midwest could take advantage of its proximity to the major producing areas and of the more plentiful supply of oil which is stored in this area would be to do so at the expense of the east," he declared.

"If you in this section of the country do not share your more abundant supply with the populous states on the eastern seaboard, then the cut in that area would have to be so drastic as to not only imperil the war effort but would threaten the very health of scores of thousands of citizens in the east coast states."

Choral Reading of Isaiah to Feature Service in Church

Presbyterian Chorus To Present Innovation Sunday Morning

Something new in church worship will be held in Dixon Sunday morning, when the morning service of the First Presbyterian church will consist of a choral reading of passages from the prophecy of Isaiah. But, like many new things that bear out the adage, "There is nothing new under the sun", choral reading had its origin in antiquity.

A speaking chorus was frequently employed in the great Greek dramas, and many of the psalms show evidence of design for antiphonal reading in ancient Hebrew worship. The speech choir as a form of literary and dramatic expression was revived in England a decade ago, and has more recently spread to this country in university and radio circles. So far as is known, this is the first occasion in this country in which a church service has been devoted to a choral reading of the Bible.

Trained for Weeks
The speech choir has been trained for a number of weeks under the direction of Mrs. Robert Underwood, graduate in the department of speech and dramatic art of the Iowa State college. Between various divisions of the reading, anthems using Isaiah's words will be sung by the Presbyterian choir, under the direction of Mrs. R. A. Joslyn. The choral reading has been selected and arranged by the Rev. Herbert J. Doran, pastor.

The Prologue, to be read in unison, tells of the Divine call, which led the young man to become a prophet. This will be followed by the "Sanctus" from Gounod's St. Cecilia Mass, a musical setting of the seraphims' song recorded in this passage. The anthem will be sung by Herbert J. Champaign and the Presbyterian choir.

Part One, entitled "The Judgment and Promise of God", consists of selections from the first 35 chapters of Isaiah, which portray the rebellion and sin of Israel, the coming day of judgement and wrath of God, the repentance and return of a faithful remnant, and God's promise of blessing to the entire world through this remnant. Introductory sentences spoken in unison will precede a series of solo readings, building up to a full choir, then modulating to women's voices, then men, followed by the entire choir.

Drama of History
Part Two, "A Scene from the Drama of History", is the dramatic account of the invasion of the Assyrian ruler Sennacherib and the triumph of the Lord, as recorded in Isaiah, chapters 36 and 37. The Dramatis Personae are: A Narrator; a boastful commander, who is the insulting representative of Sennacherib, ancient counterparts of Goebbels and Hitler; three representatives of King Hezekiah; the Prophet Isaiah; and King Hezekiah of Judah.

Part Three, "The Suffering Servant," consists of passages of comfort from the concluding 17 chapters of the book. Because of the beauty and familiarity of the King James version, the Prologue, Part Three and the Epilogue are taken from this version of the Bible, for the sake of clarity of thought and the startlingly contemporary situations described. Parts One and Two are taken from the American translations of the Bible into Modern English.

This unique service, which brings to a conclusion a series of studies of Isaiah, will be presented at the First Presbyterian church, East Third street at Galena avenue, at 10:45 a. m. Sunday. Guests without other local church affiliations are invited to attend.

Miss Olive Carter, of Gouverneur, N. Y., says that a Christmas card is welcome at any time — particularly if it comes from a relative hitherto listed only as "missing in action." Such a card was received recently by Miss Carter from a British cousin from whom she had not heard since Dunkirk. The card, an ordinary postal shows on its face a drawing of a German prison camp, complete with barbed wire, look-out tower and sentry. The postmark showed it was mailed in November, 1941.

Because of the war, Christmas may return to Arizona. The Bureau of Mines reports that, owing to the shortage of non-ferrous metals, the copper mine which formerly supported the small postoffice of Christmas, Arizona, may be reopened. The postoffice has been one of the nation's favorite mailing spots for holiday greetings.

A salesperson in a greeting card store in Kansas City has this one to tell about an absent-minded husband during the holiday rush last year. It seems that he came in and showed the clerk a card he previously had purchased. "I'd like 35 more of these," said. The clerk looked at him in astonishment. "You wish 35 cards bearing the message 'Merry Christmas to My Wife?'" she asked. "Gosh, is that the message on the card?" said the customer. "I've already sent 65 of them

Betty Barnes Becomes Bride of Lieutenant

White brocaded satin and net adorned the bridal gown worn today evening by Miss Betty Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Barnes of Jefferson, Iowa, her marriage to Second Lieutenant K. Elliott, only son of the late Elliotts of Polo. The candle service was solemnized at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, and Mrs. C. L. Smith, in Sycamore, Dr. A. L. Morgan of Joliet, her pastor of the Methodist church in Sycamore, heard the ceremony.

Mrs. Smith, as matron of honor, was dressed in pink satin. John Heaton of this city served his former classmate at Northern Illinois Teachers college as best man. Mrs. Krueger was also present.

buffet supper was served, following the ceremony. Lieutenant Mrs. Elliott will reside in Des Moines, Iowa, near where the bridegroom will be stationed at Camp Howze. He received his commission as Second Lieutenant Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and before entering the service about eight months ago, was with Montgomery Ward and company in Sycamore.

The bride was formerly employed at the Stewart Warner corporation of the Green River ordinance plant.

Mrs. Wilbur Fuhs Gives Book Review

Members of the Dixon Woman's club gathered at the Loveland Community House yesterday afternoon to hear Mrs. Wilbur Fuhs' review of Hartzell Spence's autobiographical book, "Get Thee Behind Me."

The author, Mrs. Fuhs told her audience, is a graduate of the University of Iowa, where he was an earnest student of literature, and is now a captain in the army and editor-in-chief of the army's paper, "The Yank." This publication cannot be purchased by civilians, but is available to all army men.

Captain Spence began life as the son of a Methodist minister. His father was a strict disciplinarian, who desired that his children should be models for conduct, an ambition that made life not too interesting for his children. Unfavorable impressions were highlighted by delightful experiences, including Christmas activities when the Sunday school treat of candy was prepared at the parsonage, visits from concert artists (as well as tramps and hoboes), Boy Scouting, and membership in the Stumblers' club, which afforded him an opportunity to learn to dance.

When the question of choosing a profession arose, his father wanted Spence to enter the ministry, but the young man chose the life of a reporter, preferring "life as it is, and not as it should be."

Mrs. Fuhs prefaced her review with an invitation to her audience to "relax and enjoy the story I will tell." At its conclusion, her listeners realized that the club has in Mrs. Fuhs another excellent reviewer in addition to an already competent staff.

Mrs. Charles F. Johnston, Jr., announced that the fourth book review of the season will be presented Jan. 13 by Mrs. A. I. Hardy. Mrs. Hardy has chosen the novel, "The Robe," regarded by some as the most popular book of the season, as her subject.

The clubwomen are reminded that Saturday afternoon meetings are scheduled for 2 o'clock instead of 2:30, to accommodate a greater number of members.

SCOUT LEADERS HAVE SUPPER

Members of the Girl Scout Leader's association held their monthly scramble supper meeting last evening at the Loveland Community House. Mrs. Norman W. Dietrich, the association president, presided.

Mrs. I. B. Potter directed singing and made suggestions for teaching Scout group singing. Miss Grace Ritson, Scout director, suggested games for Scout groups.

Dixon Girl Scouts are launching a grease salvage campaign, and will conduct house-to-house collections. Housewives having donations of grease are asked to notify the Girl Scout headquarters.

The next meeting of the association is scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 16.

SERVICE CLUB BALL TO BE HELD THIS EVENING

Just what extent young matrons of the Service club will be able to aid their beneficiary, Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital, depends upon how generously dance-goers respond to a general invitation to the club's fourth annual Charity Ball tonight. Frankie Pyszner will entertain from 9:30 until 1 at Brinton Memorial Masonic temple, where the ball room has been dressed in patriotic red, white and blue.

All profits from tonight's party will be used to purchase equipment and furnishings for Dixon's public hospital.

LOYAL LINKS ARE ENTERTAINED

Two young men who are in the armed forces—Merle Bowers of Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, and Galen Myers of Buckley Field, Colorado—were special guests at Tuesday evening's meeting for Loyal Links of the Brethren Sunday school. Bernadine and Hazel Moss were entertaining at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Moss, 819 Jay Dee avenue.

Mrs. Myers, who has been with her husband at Denver, was also present. Thirty-seven members and guests responded to roll call. A brief business meeting was conducted by Dale Wickert, the class president. Edward Myers, who is superintendent of the Sunday school and was an invited guest, led in prayer.

Lucile Zimmerman had charge of the games. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Moss, and at the close of the evening, Galen Myers led the group singing.

CLASS PARTY

Vivian Lee Kerley was hostess to her Sunday school class from the First Baptist church and their teacher, Mrs. Lindell Miller, Tuesday evening. Refreshments were served, following a series of games.

Vivian Lee's guests included Imogene Miller, Shirley Barrowman, Phyllis Busker, Bonita Sitter, Anna May Reglen, and Patricia Liggett.

The next meeting is to be in the form of a Christmas party at the home of Bonita Sitter.

Nevison Underwood, a Topeka, Kansas, barber, opened a little-used drawer and found a Christmas card which he received two years ago. A portrait of George Washington was in a cut-out portion. Underwood investigated and found that it was a dollar bill.

Draft-Wary Wife Finds Hubby Dandy

By RUTH MILLETT

The husband who is liable to the draft is sitting pretty—so far as his home life is concerned. The little woman appreciates him at last.

She doesn't have to use her imagination much to realize what a drab life she'll lead when he is gone. She can look around her at the women whose husbands are already in service and get a vivid picture.

That puts her husband in a new and flattering light. He still has the same old faults—but they don't look as big as they used to.

What if he does listen absentmindedly after dinner when she tells him the news and gossip of her day? At least she has someone to tell it to—and that she admits, at least, is something.

Evening Cussing Sounds Better

What if she does have to keep after him for a week to get him to put on the storm windows or stop a faucet from leaking? He does it eventually.

And what if he does swear a little when he takes ashes out of the furnace? At least he does the job. The women whose husbands are gone are worrying about having to take care of the furnaces themselves.

She still wishes he wouldn't always ask "Do we have to go?" every time she accepts an invitation. But now she feels lucky to have a husband to go out with, even if it is against his will.

So the little woman isn't as critical of her man as she used to be. He looks pretty good to her right now.

And there's a good chance he'll

RETIRED TEACHERS HAVE DISCUSSION ON LEGISLATION

Senate Bill No. 1313 was discussed by L. W. Miller before members of the Retired Teacher's club yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Dora Breed. The bill, he explained, is another attempt to obtain national funds for schools, a measure which has been opposed by many in the belief that it would lead to national control of schools.

A general discussion followed Mr. Miller's review. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

SOUTH DIXON CLUB

Mrs. George Pitzer entertained with a picnic luncheon yesterday for the South Dixon Community club, her guests including 25 members and visitors. Mrs. Ralph Lehman and Mrs. Mathias Levan assisted the hostess.

Little Beverly Pitzer sang a solo, "You Are My Sunshine," following the afternoon business meeting. Mrs. David Moore and Mrs. Belle Mumford won honors in court whist.

At their next meeting, Dec. 16, the clubwomen will be exchanging "club pal" gifts.

A Thought for Today

If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.
—John 1:8.

Hateful to me as are the gates of hell,
Is he who, hiding one thing in his heart, Utters another.—Homer.

Unity of Command

Along with the reports that things have not gone so well for American arms in the Pacific,
there is a general insistence that the armed forces of the United States be placed under what is called "unified command." Critics go even further than that: They demand that all of the armies, navies, marines and air forces of every country opposing the axis be placed under a unified command.

To illustrate what they mean, those who advocate unity of command point to the purported efficiency of Hitler's drive through the Low Countries and his sudden investment of Norway. Under a unified nazi command, it was said, Hitler accomplished those objectives as easily as one rolls off a log. On the other hand, the Belgians, Dutch, British, Danes and French, not being unified under a single command, were defeated.

They connect allied disasters with the lack of unified command, but they do not demonstrate clearly that disaster wouldn't have followed anyhow if either (1) Hitler's forces had NOT been unified, or (2) the allied forces HAD been unified.

The plain truth is that Hitler's armies were fully equipped, while those of the French, British and others, were not nearly so fully mechanized.
The French, in addition, were demoralized by years of internal quarreling even before Hitler made his sudden attack.

Complete unification of all the United Nations forces—land, air and sea—involves not only practical military problems and the selection of a staff sufficiently trained to handle such a heterogeneous assembly of men and materiel, but also political problems which are even harder to solve.

Unification of United States forces could be achieved more easily, and in a way they are unified now under the president, who is commander-in-chief of the army, navy and marines. It will be years before all the information is available for civilian enlightenment, but we assume the president, after consultation with admirals and generals, decides it is necessary and possible to make a landing in north Africa. He then tells the generals to prepare for such a landing, and he tells the admirals to take the troops to north Africa. There is a conference between the army and navy high-ups,
and they agree on details.

Judging by critics of the lack of unified command, we are led to infer that as result of the lack of unity, the generals take the bit in their teeth and gallop away to Alaska instead of to the ports of embarkation, and the navy baits its hooks and goes fishing off Cape Horn.

As a matter of fact, and as far as any one knows, the army and navy cooperated beautifully in getting troops to north Africa. The soldiers were at the ports of embarkation on time, instead of being en route to Alaska, and the navy was on hand at the ports with warships and troop transports, and everybody got aboard and to Africa without a single fist fight between the generals and admirals. Not a battleship went afishing off Cape Horn.

Air Lines Prove Their Worth

Some years ago there were plenty of troubles for operators of private air lines. First, they had to prove that scheduled air mail and passenger flights were feasible, and the problem of finance was not to be sneezed at. No sooner were they soundly established than the government suspended its contracts with them and attempted to carry the mail with the army's air force. That was a big setback, but the air lines pulled through.

We remember that during those dismal days
some one in New England uttered the doubtful doubt that air lines were practical anyhow. He admitted that airplane passenger and mail service was faster,
but, he asked: "Who wants to be in a hurry?"

Today, in the midst of a war, the air lines are still privately operated, and they are rendering fast service without which we would be handicapped almost fatally. Not only are they carrying mail and passengers, but there are cargo planes operating between the United States and distant parts of the earth, carrying vitally needed supplies. They have even brought back severely wounded men for treatment.

Although the air lines cooperate closely with the army, the service still remains civilian, and it is doing things which, because of military secrecy, can not be disclosed at this time. The end of the war will permit that miracle to be published.

Soft for Brann

Will somebody tell us why former Governor Brann of Maine, defeated in the Republican congressional primaries in September, has been given a $25,000 job as labor conciliator for two Maine shipyards, one a Todd enterprise?

The Todd yards have enjoyed first class labor relations for a long time now. Recently Todd retained Mrs. Elinore Herrick, one of the country's outstanding labor experts and up to then New York regional director of the National Labor Relations Board, to supervise its employe relations. Mrs.
Herrick is amply competent to handle her job without the assistance of an ex-governor.

And the $25,000, of course, is added to the bills presented to the taxpayers, since the shipyards are working 100 per cent on government production.

Whose Archie Is He?

There appears to be some question whether the poet Archibald MacLeish is still a brass hat of the Office of War Information, or whether he has gone back to the Library of Congress. Contrasting Elmer Davis' realistic report on our aircraft with the complacent pap put out by Mr. MacLeish's Office of Facts and Figures last January, we venture to suggest that Mr. MacLeish was a very acceptable Librarian and should be happy in the corridors devoted to fables.

News Behind THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON (Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., Reproduction In Whole or In Part Strictly Prohibited)

Washington, Nov. 18.—Lost in the shuffle of higher headlines from Africa and Guadalcanal,
the squally decisive news of General MacArthur's campaign against the Japs has been under-estimated.

It is a major victory, involving around 40,000 troops on our side.
It represents an advance of 75 to 100 miles across mountains and through jungles in our first successful land campaign of the war.

It has (or immediately will) bust
the Jap base at Buna, open the way for MacArthur to take Salamau and Lae, and drive the enemy from the whole island of New Guinea, the point of its farthest advance in its south Pacific conquest.

As we seize those north shore plane and naval bases, we will move within about 200 miles of the main south Pacific base of the Japs at Rabaul, and from there our bombers can make it untenable.

This was a typical MacArthur strategic movement. To get the proper touch of it, you have to go back to July when the Japs struck for Milne Bay.

Their landing force found, to their surprise, that MacArthur had anticipated such an attempt to flank his weak New Guinea position. He had hidden Australian troops there. Most of the Jap landing parties never reached shore.

Those which succeeded in landing met, not only the Australians,
but a force of American Negroes, sent to construct an airfield for us. The Negroes laid down their shovels, seized machine guns and distinguished themselves, exterminating Jap remnants. (That was when Rep. Maas was there.)

The never ending swarms of Nipponese then burst through the Owen Stanley mountain pass in the center of MacArthur's New Guinea line, and moved within 34 miles of Port Moresby, our only base. They did it cleverly.

They found a secret pass in the mountains, infiltrated in our rear, drove us back, endangering all Australia.

MacArthur put his planes to pounding the big pass through which their supplies came over the mountains, the bridges, the caches of food and gasoline they had stored on the narrow trails.

Within a few weeks, the Jap advance forces were so hungry they decided to withdraw to the pass, expecting to hold it. That is where MacArthur's current drive began.

His men had schooled themselves in the technique which the Japs had used against them—flank advances along side routes through the jungles, infiltration, hammering at the sides and rear (never headlong in front).

The past two weeks they have outdone the Japs at their own game. They recaptured the small Kokoda airfield. They crossed a main hazard in the Wairopi river.
They kept a couple of columns of troops always circling toward the Jap rear, and fighter planes and medium bombers kept bombing the Jap bases of supplies at Buna and Lae. (MacArthur's heavy bombers went daily for Ra-baul to help the Marines at Guadalcanal.)

The Japs could not match Mac-Arthur in the air, hence he has been able to maintain his own line of supplies, running back up through the 6,000-foot pass to Port Moresby. Some few boats have come around to the north shore with supplies, but the advance has been almost entirely a land movement.

Clearly, if this success had not come during more spectacular dramaticities in Africa and Guadalcanal, it would be recognized for what it was—a smart, decisive, large-scale land victory, the first revenge for Bataan.

Navy Secretary Knox and other Navy men are again saying the Japs will be back at Guadalcanal.
Perhaps they will—but hardly at once. Our victory there was decisive also.

It is strange but true that the man in the street read the naval communique of Jap losses with suspicion and asked his neighbor:
"Do you think it true?"

The Japs had presented a roundup claim of all our recent ship losses the day before, adding a couple of ships to make it more impressive. Also, the Navy failed to include the number of our ships damaged, mentioning only those sunk.

But for what it was, an accounting of the complete losses in the three-day battle, the communique was certainly true.

Therefore, if you consider how long the Japs required to accumulate ships for her two previous attempts to save Guadalcanal, you may conclude it will be weeks, or months, before they can gather enough to come again.

My guess is they will try it another way, next time. Our land-based plane strength in that area will tear the keels out of any large naval expedition.

If the Japs use their heads, they

Deaths

Suburban—
MRS. NETTIE HIGLEY
(Telegraph Special Service)
Polo, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Nettie Higley, 82, passed away very suddenly at 1:00 o'clock this morning at her home, the result of a heart attack. Funeral services will be held at 2:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Christian church, with burial in Pine Creek cemetery.

Nettie Gillette was born in Lena
Jan. 10, 1860, the daughter of Hiram and Mary Gillette, and was married in 1883 to Manville Higley, who preceded her in death in 1923. After their marriage they farmed in Pine Creek township until their retirement to Polo in 1912.

She is survived by a daughter Mabelle, at home, and several nieces and nephews. A daughter,
Rose, passed away in 1902.

MONROE A. DUNHAM

Byron, Ill., Nov. 19.—Monroe Alba Dunham, 66, of Byron, died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound,
a jury decided at an inquest conducted Wednesday morning at the Rock of Ages funeral home. The inquest was conducted by Dr. J. C.
Akins of Forreston, Ogle county coroner.

Dunham's death apparently occurred late Tuesday afternoon. He was alone in his home at the time.

He was born at Sandwich, Ill.,
March 19, 1876, the son of Charles H. and Edwina B. Dunham. He was unmarried, and came to Byron from Sycamore about 22 years ago. He was a baker by trade, but at the time of his death was employed by Harry Shank, painter and decorator in Marion township.

A cousin in California is believed to be the only surviving relative.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Rock of Ages funeral home on route two. The Rev. C. C. Crickette, pastor of the Mouth of the Stillman church, will officiate, and burial will be in Byron cemetery.

son of Rockford, who is home on furlough from Africa, will be the guest speaker for the Women's Missionary society of the Bethel United Evangelical church at the public thank offering service Sunday evening at 7:30. Miss Olson is associated with the Africa Inland mission which evangelizes
the people in east and central Africa. In 1941, 45 years after the first party landed in Africa, 285 missionaries with 2,200 African helpers are occupying 54 main stations surrounded by more than 1,800 out-stations. Work along medical, industrial and educational lines is being done, but the salvation of the lost and the edification of believers through preaching the gospel and teaching the word of God has first place. Miss Olson will wear the native costume and also will have curics from her field of labor. At this meeting the women of the Missionary society will bring in their thank offering boxes. An interesting program has been planned and an invitation is extended to the public to hear this missionary speaker.

True Blue Class—The True Blue
class of the Christian Sunday school is to meet at the church at 2 p. m. Friday.

W. F. M. S.—Mrs. George Platten, 918 Oak Court, will be hostess to the W. F. M. S. of the Nazarene church at 7:45 p. m. Friday.

If the Japs are stumped there, so are we temporarily. For us to proceed with our original intention and move northward in the Solomons, as MacArthur goes forward in New Guinea, will require great naval support, and I would doubt that we can spare the ships, in view of our new commitments in Africa, our losses, and our pledge to supply Britain.

Fair Enough

by
WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Nov. 19.—Discussion of our plans for the great new world of the future seems slightly premature, not to say cocky, at the present writing, but, assuming that the Germans presently get another bellyful and quit again and that the Japs are all but annihilated, which seems to be Ambassador Grew's minimum for victory over them, then what about postwar immigration to this country by the peoples of other lands?

I think that when it is all over the American people will still have sense enough to exclude wholesale immigration of those whom Kipling, in his candid arrogance, called the lesser breeds, because experience has shown that they can work rings around Americans, both white and Negro, and live on less and that they tend to depress the American living standard and live mysteriously apart from us among us. It is a fact that we had Chinese troubles in California and elsewhere in the west before we had a Japanese problem, and it is not insulting these peoples out, if you like, complimenting them to say that they can get by on less food, sleep, recreation and comfort and produce more work than we can. When you come down to it, that is the same as saying that they are better men than we are, which admission might take some of the pain out of exclusion.

But are we going to open the doors to the peoples of Europe without regard for their politics, past performances or occupational talents? because, if so, we shall be trying to digest a mess of fish-hooks. These people will include most of the smart and nasty agitators of the continent who did much to provoke fascism in Italy and the idle, sedentary parasites who flocked to France when the heat became too great in their own countries and nagged the Frenchmen to distraction. The fact is that we have many of them among us now telling us what is wrong with the only country on earth in which they are safe and wanting us to do things their way. In our great, humane generosity we bent our own laws out of shape in the last rush before the war and because we were unwilling to risk excluding genuine victims of racial, religious and political persecution, let in many doubtful cases who were just as cruel and conspiratorial as the fascists and nazis.

One proposal came from a high quarter of our government shortly before the war to admit to Puerto Rico as many refugees from Spain and France as could be ferried over in a hurry, and if that bright idea had been adopted the situation in Puerto Rico would be much worse than it is today. Not all refugees are victims of injustice, although all of them say they are.
Some are primarily refugees from the exasperation of their decent, orderly neighbors in the homeland who finally got fed up with their ceaseless trouble-making, their defamatory treatment of all who disagreed with them and their assumption of an intellectual superiority which orbade them to engage in common work.

If we must have immigration in the great new world of the future then, certainly, it should be selective according to a catalog of talents in which we may be deficient and a record of useful work should weigh more than a record of stooping the cops or organizing ructions in the streets.

Would that tend to exclude ideas, then?

If so, that would be no new principle in our immigration practice, for we are hostile to nazism and fascism and have taken a position, somewhat shaky to be sure, that Communism is equally detestable and dangerous to the American government. That is an attempt, at least, to exclude ideas which are fundamentally and practically the same, but because we recognized in fascism or Hitlerism the more immediate threat to our physical safety and because these isms fought the Communists
we gave the status of refugee,
with all the comfort and sympathy which that word implies, to some immigrants who are, in fact, no more desirable than so many nazis.

No political idea now current in Europe offers any improvement on the government of the United States, and the only economic ideas that Europe has to offer us are the ideas of bankruptcy and state control most private property and state possession by confiscation of the rest. It is an expression of despair and defeatism to say that we have exhausted the possibilities of the American way and must now turn back to Europe at the worst stage of Europe's history for novelties with which to improve the American way of life.

Open the doors wide again and we will have here the sort of journalism, already noticeable, and the same conspiratorial, international kind of domestic politics which contributed so much to the hell of Europe today.

SERIAL STORY

THE EDGE OF DARKNESS

COPYRIGHT, 1942.

BY WILLIAM WOODS

NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: All Norway is preparing for revolt against Nazi rule. Gunnar Brogge, leaving the office of Dr. Stensgard, finds an angry crowd facing a row of German troops who enforce an order forbidding the fishing boats to leave. Gunnar restores peace by whispering to the men that he has good news.

PLAN OF ACTION

CHAPTER IV

LIKE a warm, muscular animal, Solveig was watching him.
"Come," she said. "This beating about the bush. Out with it."
"Lars, do you have outboard motors?"

"Yes," the old man cried excitedly. "Of course. Three of them."

"I want you to put them in a safe place. If anyone . . . mind you, anyone . . . comes in asking about them, tell him they're sold.
Understand?"

"Of course. What else? I can take care of more than motors."
For the first time Gunnar smiled. "There's time for that,"
he said.

All three heard the little bell tinkle at the front door of the shop. The old man hesitated, then went out past the curtain.

"What do you want?" Solveig asked her husband tensely.

He put a hand on her arm.
They listened. It was Kasper Torgersen outside, asking the old man for cotton thread. They heard his gruff voice. While Malken was evidently looking through the drawers, they heard him inquiring how the fishermen took the confiscation. "After all," Torgersen was saying, "I own a third of those boats. If I don't complain, surely they have no right."

Gunnar beckoned to Solveig and they went out. "Good morning, Herr Torgersen."

"You are a leader of the men," Torgersen said now slowly. "They will not forget your work last winter with the fleet." He made a pause and then added, "We will hold you responsible for keeping order."

"You mean . . ."

"I mean that first and foremost
I am a Norwegian. You know that well enough. The interests of the men are my interests. But I feel . . . that is, I am sure . . . we can accomplish a great deal more for us if we do not act rashly. That lamentable business in Stoksumd yesterday . . ."

"Where did you hear about that, Herr Torgersen?"

full support, even if I disagree.
But . . ."

"Suppose . . ." Gunnar drew close, peering toward the door first as if he wanted to make sure they could not be overheard. "Suppose I were to tell you that there is a plan on foot to overpower the guard, cut loose the boats, and set sail for England?"

TORGERSEN flushed, looked at the storekeeper, whose mouth dropped open in horror, and then back at Gunnar. "Are you mad?"
he snapped. "That would be theft."
And then as an afterthought, "Besides, you wouldn't get 50 miles.
But . . . but of course, you are joking."

"Yes," said Solveig. "We are joking."

She and Gunnar went out.
"Our men have been fighting in Stoksumd," Gunnar said slowly.
"The dogs," she burst out, and a delighted smile spread over her broad face.

"I saw Dr. Stensgard less than an hour ago. He spent half the night with Knut Osterholm's cousin, who escaped."

"What does it mean? What about the boats?"

"He brought news that guns are to be landed all along the coast."
They stopped talking for several minutes because the old schoolmaster, Sixtus Andresen, was coming toward them. He stepped along slowly with a cane, keeping his wrinkled white head up to get the sun in his face.

"Good morning, Master Andresen."

"Good morning, Fru Brogge."
The aged gentleman bowed slowly
in his invariably courteous way, and went on.

Gunnar said in a lower voice,
"It would be good to include him if he were not so old. He hates them more than most." They both remembered how the doctor had said that old Andresen was the only one among them who really knew how to fight the Germans without guns.

Solveig looked after him. She heard her husband say, "Ja, we don't have to wait any longer.
The fight is coming here too, and we can begin to make ready for it."

She started rolling down her sleeves. "Are you crazy?" she asked, grown more serious. Her voice was no more than a whisper. "We have no guns yet, and already you talk of fighting.
Maybe you can say that to Malken
or to those down on the dock,
but not to me." She was buttoning her cuffs. "Not to me," she repeated a little more loudly.

Gunnar's face grew dark. "Every man who works in this town," he said fiercely, "will be with us.

I don't count the Torgersens and the old women. But if we wait until the whole country is ready it will be too late. They made no plans in Stoksumd, and so they were slaughtered before they had a chance."

"Good enough," she said impatiently, "good enough, but you have only the doctor's word."

Hill Bros. Ties for Lead With Van Dams

Detroit, Chicago Battle for Lead

By The Associated Press
The Detroit Red Wings and the Chicago Black Hawks get together tonight to fight for the National Hockey League's leadership. The Wings bring the top spot with them as they invade Chicago for the second meeting of the season between the two leading teams. The last time they met, ten days ago, the Wings and Hawks battled to a 3-all tie—the only league deadlock so far this season. Since then, each club has clicked for two victories, which has left the Wings with a record of four wins, a defeat and a tie and the Hawks with three triumphs, two setbacks and the lone deadlock.

Teammates in Gaining Lead

Mobley, Wilson of Hardin-Simmons Could Run One-Two

Chicago, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Rudolph (Little Doe) Mobley and six-foot Camp Wilson, the long and short of unbeaten Hardin-Simmons' devastating running attack, are well on their way to becoming the top two ball carriers of 1942 football. If they succeed, it will mark the first time in modern records that two members of the same team have run one-two in national rushing figures. Mobley, already credited with a season's record-breaking rushing total of 1,145 yards in seven games, has first place virtually sewed up. Wilson must beat out Missouri's Bob Steuber and Ohio State's Gene Fekete for the runner-up position. Although playing in fewer games, Wilson trails Fekete by only 20 yards and Steuber by 51. Figures released today by the American football statistical bureau show Steuber with 848 yards in nine games; Fekete 817 in eight games; Wilson has 797 yards in seven contests with two more to play.

Top National Record
Together, Mobley and Wilson have Hardin-Simmons leading the nation in rushing with an average of 350 yards a game, 40 yards better than the record set by Colorado in 1937. In fact, the two would be outdistancing complete backfield units of every college eleven in the country if it weren't for four teams—Ohio State, Boston college, Missouri and Texas.

Meantime, Frankie Sinkwich, the Georgia Powerhouse, is running and passing his way toward the 2,000 yard mark in total offense. He has a 1,815 total gained by running 692 yards and passing for 1,123 and still has two games to go. The record is 1,928 yards.

The other leaders:
Total offense—Governal, Columbia, 148 yards rushing, 1,218 yards passing; Dutton, Pittsburgh, 676-580; Steuber, Missouri, 848-335; Mobley, Hardin-Simmons, 1149-0; Evans, Kansas, 234-881; McKay, Texas, 661-418; G. Dobbs, Tulsa, 298-766; Graham, Northwestern, 224-827; Hullenbrand, Indiana, 317-692.

Evans Leads Passes
Rushing—After Mobley, Steuber, Fekete and Wilson came Holovac, Boston college, 743 yards in 7 games; Hirsch, Wisconsin, 724 in 9; Kennedy, Washington State, 712 in 7.

Passing—(Ranked on completions), Evans, Kansas, 83 passes for 881 yards; Governal, 76 for 1218; Gillette, Virginia, 71 for 793; Sinkwich, 68 for 1123; Graham, 66 for 837; Daniels, Texas A. & M., 62 for 701; G. Dobbs, 53 for 766; Bertelli, Notre Dame, 51 for 735.

Punting—Cifers, Tennessee, 44.45 average; W. Flynn, Harvard, 43.62; Faircloth, North Carolina State, 42.65; Douglas, Dartmouth, 42.58.

Pass receiving—Rogers, Texas A. and M. caught 35 for 412 yards; Ferguson, California, 24 for 306; Salem, Texas Mines, 24 for 314; Judd, Tulsa, 23 for 312; Kelleher, Columbia, 22 for 395.

PRIZE QUIP

Philadelphia (AP)—Leave it to Stout Steve Owen of the football Giants to come up with the prize quip of the season. When the Eagles' coach, Greasy Neale, collapsed after the Giants game here, Owen remarked soberly: "I always knew I would see one of us coaches go that way. I have felt like that myself. But Neale was all right—he was cursing me and my Giants as he crawled into the ambulance."

HEAVY BYRD

College Park, Md.—(AP)—The son is heavier than the father in the case of Bill Byrd, son of Procy H. C. Byrd of the University of Maryland. The Old Line varsity center at 203, is more than 50 pounds heavier than his dad when he was the shining light on the gridiron 35 years ago.

With the aid of the Country Club Beer keggers, Hill Bros. finally tied for the Classic league lead yesterday.

For weeks the coffee boys trailed Van Dams, one length off the pace, but last night they were able to pull abreast of the leaders. Country Club did its share by knocking off the pace-setters, 2-1. At the same time Hill Bros. was riding to a 2-1 victory over James.

Myers Royal Blue swept its series with Welch & Brader to take over undisputed possession of third as Pabst Blue Ribbon lost two to Potts' Quality Market.

Best Punters From South? Maybe This Explains Why

By ART EDSON
AP Features

Oklahoma City—There's something about the south, huh, that makes a fellow want to kick a football out of this world.

There never will be a satisfactory answer to the question: What section produces the finest football teams? But there's no doubt but that the south, at least in recent years, has come up with the fanciest punters.

And down here, where sectional pride blazes like a fire doused with gasoline, the fans proclaim it's the southwest that emphasizes the foot in football.

Sammy Baugh, Jack Jacobs, Owen Price, Glenn Dobbs... peerless punters, all southwesterners.

The American football statistical bureau backs up this southern supremacy in punting. This season the southeast kickers are getting the most distance. Last year, it was the southwest, and year before that, the southeast.

Dobbs Is Top Punter
But individually, ah, that is where the southwest sparkles. Long, lean Glenn Dobbs, a goal to goal punter, has kicked so well his University of Tulsa is the No. 1 punting team in the nation.

Last year's top punter was Owen Price of Texas Mines. In 1940, it was this Price person again with a 48-yard average. The University of Oklahoma's celebrated Indian, Jack Jacobs, was only a few inches behind.

But here's the test. In the National Football league this fall, where the best in the business operate, Jacobs was the leading punter until he flew away to join the Air Corps. And when he left, Baugh took over first place, and Sam'l, generally conceded to be the finest kicker in pro ball today, is from Texas Christian university.

Is there any reason why south-west kickers should be superior? Coaches at Oklahoma's three major schools—Dewey Luster of the University of Oklahoma, Jim Lookabaugh of Oklahoma A. and M. and Henry Frnka of Tulsa—have a variety of answers, including one so novel the typewriter blushes to repeat it.

Could Be the Wind
It could be the wind, they declare. That's right, the wind. It blows almost constantly across these southwest plains, putting a premium on punting. A team with a grade A punter often floats to victory on that quasi-eternal breeze. In the southwest, it pays to have a good kicker. Consequently kicking is stressed.

Luster—The climate is mild enough to permit lots of ball handling. Warm fingers make for good passing and kicking.

Lookabaugh—The build of these southwesterners has something to do with it. Most of them are split to the moon. A long legged lad can get a lot of power into a kick.

Frnka—Too many coaches think of punting purely as a defensive weapon. Those punts of ours aren't accidents. We spend considerable time in every practice working on them.

But any way you look at it, these southwesterners are getting a lot of kick into, and out of, their football.

James Raises Hopes of Ohio State's Fandom

Columbus, O., Nov. 19.—(AP)—A possibility, slight though it was, that "Touchdown Tommy" James might be able to ramble Saturday against Michigan today raised hopes of Ohio State's rabid fandom for their first victory in five years over their bitter rivals.

Thomas Laverne James, a freckle-faced Massillon red-head, came into his own last Saturday as a "spot" runner, scoring touchdowns on 76 and 33 yard runs against Illinois. But before the game was half over he was thrown hard out-of-bounds and

Three Rings, Sideshow in Big Ten Play

Center Ring Will Be Given Over to Ohio-Michigan Clash

Chicago, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The Western Conference football circus will just about wind up its dizzy and title defying 1942 showing this week and aptly enough, there will be three rings—also a sideshow.

The center ring, of course, will be given over to the Michigan-Ohio State encounter, which may finally determine a conference champion. The others will find Wisconsin, still within title striking distance, taking on Minnesota, and Indiana and Purdue meeting in an all Hoosier battle.

The sideshow, involving Northwestern and Notre Dame, will bring together two of the nation's leading forward passers—Otto Graham and Angelo Bertelli. Their meeting should produce the passing champion of the Midwest. At the moment, Northwestern's Graham ranks fifth in the national ratings and Bertelli eighth. Here are their records:

	Yds Gained	Intercept	Comp	Att
Graham, N W	132 66 15	500 837
Bertelli, N D	119 51 11	429 735

Practice Highlights

Yesterday most of Northwestern's practice was devoted to polishing its running game. Notre Dame worked on defense against aerials.

Practice highlights from other Midwest football camps: Michigan continued to drill on new plays... Ohio State worked for deception... An epidemic of colds forced Coach Stuhlreder to juggle his Wisconsin lineup...

Bill Daley demonstrated his absence from the Minnesota lineup had not affected his forward passing and pitched "strikes" most of the afternoon...

Indiana Coach Bo McMillin termed the Indiana-Purdue series a series of upsets and refused to predict a winner... Purdue drilled hard at both offense and defense... Injuries to the regular Great Lakes centers forced Coach Hinkle to call on two guards...

Len Levy and Fred Crawford—for pivot duty against Illinois... Bus Mertes got considerable attention in the Iowa Seahawks backfield and may start against Nebraska... Iowa's Hawkeyes, although without a game this week, went through a scrimmage.

ABC Tourney Is Postponed

Chicago's All-Star Meet Takes on Added Importance

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 19.—(AP)—The 43d American Bowling Congress tournament, scheduled in Buffalo March 18 to May 19, was postponed yesterday for one year. The event has run continuously since 1901.

A special committee appointed by Martin G. Unmuth of Duquesne, Pa., ABC president, and a committee of the Buffalo Bowling Association at a joint meeting adopted a resolution stating it is the universal thought and desire of ABC members that nothing be done except to further the advancement of the war effort of the nation.

Postponement of the tournament, the resolution stated, will enable many thousands of members to remain at their war work and thus hundreds of thousands of vital man hours will be saved for the national defense effort.

NO. 1 SHOW

Chicago, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Chicago's second annual All Star bowling tournament became just about the nation's No. 1 ten-pin show today with the cancellation of the 1943 ABC tournament.

The nine-day event will open here Dec. 5 and will draw a field of approximately 100 of the country's leading bowlers who qualified by winning district eliminations or automatically became eligible by finishing high among the leaders in last year's event won by Johnny Crimmins of Detroit.

Entries include such stars as Andy Varipapa of New York; Joe Norris of Detroit, runner-up to Crimmins last year; Connie Schwoeger of Madison, Wis.; Marty Cassio, Rahway, N. J.; Ray Newton of Memphis, Tenn. Other entries are from more than a score of cities.

The tournament will be held in the auditorium theater service men's center and profits of the meet will go to the center. The tournament is sponsored by the Chicago Tribune and the Bowling Proprietors Association of America.

Fekete Makes Wolves Wince

Columbus, O., Nov. 19.—(AP)—If Gene Fekete, Ohio State's plunging fullback from Findlay, O., starts tearing through the Michigan line here Saturday, the Wolverines will have more than one cause for wincing.

Fekete, a sophomore who's leading the midwest in scoring with 78 points, tried to enroll at Michigan. He lacked necessary credits in mathematics and shifted to Ohio State because he wanted to play football in the Western Conference.

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 19.—(AP)—National hockey league officials are talking (one of the best things they do) about reducing the player limit to 13 men... This is important mainly because hockey is the first sport to feel the real wallop of the war... What happens to it now may happen to the others later... The change may or may not equalize the strength of the teams, as Art Ross claims, but it surely would cause some changes in the way they play the game... The managers could either reduce their defense strength, keep three forward lines in action and go in for heavy scoring, or they could cut out the third line and return to the slower game of a decade ago, when a hockey team was 12 men... Come to think of it, the Bruins have done all right with only 13 men in their last few games... You can imagine the effects if other sports start cutting—football squads two deep, 16-man baseball squads, etc., but it's one way of spreading out the available manpower.

MISSING 'EM QUICK
Winding up the football season with no more idea of what's what than we had at the start: Boston college, Georgia and Georgia Tech (automatically); Army over Princeton, Columbia over Dartmouth, Harvard over Yale, Missouri over Fordham, Wisconsin (home team) over Minnesota, Ohio State over Michigan, Notre Dame over Northwestern, Alabama over Vanderbilt, North Carolina over Virginia... When it comes to the southwest and Pacific coast we give up.

SCRAP COLLECTION
Although howl talk is taboo at Boston college, word is that the B. C. seniors would prefer the Orange bowl to the Sugar ditto because they've visited New Orleans three times but never have seen Miami... Esther Wrona, Michigan women's speed skating champion, recently was awarded a $1,000 war bond by the Saginaw, Mich., defense plant where she works, for figuring how to save 470 man-hours a month in manufacturing machine guns... Still cutting the corners close, eh?... Pete Reiser, the Dodgers' outfielder, is undergoing treatment in St. Louis for the after-effects of that bump on the head he got last summer... Jim Hendy and Clem White, hockey drumbeaters at Madison Square Garden, have donated the "Hendy-White trophy" a large black comb—to be awarded the player who finishes the season with his hair least disarranged.

TIP FROM TED
Gordon Cobblestick of the Cleveland Plain Dealer reports that the reason Ted Williams got so few long hits off Indian pitchers late last season was that Ted, himself, gave Lou Boudreau a hint on how he could be stopped... "Once a pitcher shows me his fast ball I can hit anything he throws," Ted remarked during the All-Star game. "I time everything by the hard one. Until I see it I'm liable to have trouble with his other stuff"... Boudreau promptly ordered his pitchers to throw nothing but curves and slow stuff to

Seahawks to Play No Post Season Tilts

Unless Navy Department Approves Contest, Chief Announces

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Iowa's navy pre-flight school Seahawks will play no post-season football games unless the navy department approves such contests, it was announced at the base today.

Capt. David C. Hanrahan, commandant at the school, said he had given negative answers to several offers "on post-season subjects from places such as Chicago" because "we are much too busy. We have something else to do besides play football. There just isn't any room for it in our program."

Lt. Col. Bernie Bierman, athletic director and head coach of the Navy football team here, also said the base is not interested in post-season bids. He said he was "surprised" that such a subject was broached and indicated he felt his team is not in the "bowl class."

The navy department would have to handle the problem of permitting gridgers to take time from their studies to travel to a bowl game, Bierman added.

"But if the Navy wants us to play, we will play," the Seahawk coach said.

The Seahawks, defeated only by Notre Dame and winner of six games, have four games remaining on their 1942 schedule.

Personnel Changes

"The team is not the same team that started the year and therefore doesn't have the same character of a bowl squad," Bierman said. "It wouldn't seem that it would even be eligible for post-season consideration."

Since cadets leave the base every three months for flight training, personnel of the football squad changes constantly.

The squad is now without a cadet who started the season. Only officers and enlisted men stationed here permanently have played all fall.

The navy team carded one of the nation's toughest gridiron schedules for its first season of competition and generally was ranked among the top teams of the country.

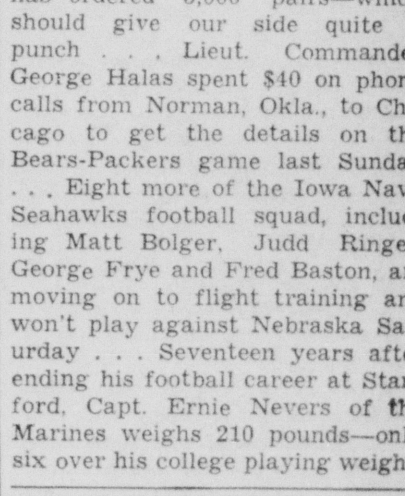

But cadets leaving the school also have left a considerably weakened football squad. Bierman, who piloted Minnesota eleven to football heights before coming here, has guided the Seahawks to victories over Kansas, Northwestern, Minnesota, Michigan, Indiana and Fort Knox so far this season, and has suffered only one defeat—by Notre Dame.

Remaining on the schedule this fall are Nebraska, Ohio State, Missouri and the North Carolina navy cadets.

Ted until they had two strikes on him.

SERVICE DEPT.

The Army has ordered 16,200 pairs of boxing gloves from the Benlee outfit here, and the Navy has ordered 3,000 pairs—which should give our side quite a punch... Lieut. Commander George Halas spent $40 on phone calls from Norman, Okla., to Chicago to get the details on the Bears-Packers game last Sunday... Eight more of the Iowa Navy Seahawks football squad, including Matt Bolger, Judd Ringer, George Frye and Fred Baston, are moving on to flight training and won't play against Nebraska Saturday... Seventeen years after ending his football career at Stanford, Capt. Ernie Nevers—only six over his college playing weight.

Allies Batter Nazi

sought comfort in fantastic stories of allied losses.
Thus the Nazi-controlled Vichy radio declared that 50 damaged British warships and merchantmen had arrived at Gibraltar and landed dead and wounded, while the Rome radio reported that a large U. S. transport crowded with troops "has just been sunk off Casablanca".
Neither claim had confirmation.

DETAILED STORY

(By The Associated Press)
London, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Troops were credited today with battering back German patrols in preliminary clashes of the battle for Tunisia and a new thrust was reported under way from the Lake Chad region to supplement the east-west drives upon the remaining axis holdings in north Africa.
While American and British forces edged nearer Tripoli from Algeria and Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's British Eighth Army maintained its advance from Egypt, Reuters quoted a Cairo dispatch broadcast by the British command as saying that an allied force of considerable strength was moving north into the Libyan desert from the Fighting French bases on Lake Chad.
The Morocco radio said only about 940 miles separated a motorized column from Lake Chad and the allied force of Lieut. Gen. K. A. N. Anderson pushing eastward through Tunisia.
1,200 Miles From Sea
There was no confirmation of this in authoritative London circles, but British observers previously noted that such an assault was possible from Lake Chad, in French Equatorial Africa, some 1,200 miles south of the Mediterranean.
Dispatches from allied headquarters of Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower disclosed that the advance into Tunisia was a two-way operation, the force striking in the north, where both the naval base of Bizerte and the Capital of Tunis are situated, and the other in the south, across the trails on a direct route to Tripoli.
"Advance elements of the British First Army, together with British and American parachute troops and French forces operating with us have entered Tunisia at several points", a communique said.
Flying Fortresses of Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle's command were reported to have set oil tanks ablaze, exploded munitions dumps, wrecked grounded planes and destroyed a German fighter in a daylight raid on German-occupied Bizerte while RAF bombers struck at other objectives in the French protectorate.
Parachute troops were utilized

as ground combat teams, moving up as the van of the advancing force by motor cars instead of by planes. Without detail, dispatches said they occupied several strategic places. French forces of Gen. Henri Honore Giraud, familiar with the territory, protected the allied flanks.
Simultaneous fresh resistance to the axis infiltrations spread in Tunisia. French parties were said to have fought German attempts to land more air borne troops to bolster forces already estimated at 10,000.
Axis U-boats and aerial forays against the American coast in the North African coast were declared proving costly.
Other Developments
Other developments in the Mediterranean situation:
Gen. D'Assier de Vigerie, 57, who commanded the French air force in northern France at the outbreak of the war, joined General Charles de Gaulle in London.
The Berlin radio said Max Bonafous, Vichy's minister of agriculture, was reported to be drafting new rationing restrictions in the face of food shortages due to the loss of supplies from north African colonies.
United States forces were welcomed by the Sultan of Morocco with an expression of "our best wishes" for mutual prosperity of the United Nations.

REPORT FROM CAIRO

Cairo, Nov. 19.—(AP)—British troops racing westward in an effort to cut off remnants of Marshal Rommel's axis army before they could reach the coastal corridor established contact south of Benghazi yesterday while allied bombers struck anew at that Libyan port, the British announced today.
Units of the Eighth Army apparently had been sent on a race across the desert while other forces followed the coastal road along the hump of Libya from Barce toward Benghazi, where German-Italian garrison forces may plan a suicide stand or attempt to withdraw by air and sea.
Aerial operations over Libya, another raid upon the airbase of the eastbound allied army of Lieut. Gen. K. A. N. Anderson and destruction of a German bomber over Sicily accounted for a dozen axis planes yesterday, the communique said. Allied losses were six.

Sperandeo Thrills Dixon High School Pupils With Songs

By Eustace Shaw

If you think you have had troubles and gone through hardships, read the life story of Giovanni Sperandeo from Sicily.

When he was 15, Sperandeo moved to America, with many other Italian immigrants. He knew nothing about the English language when he landed in New York in December, wearing a light summer suit.

Four years later, at the age of 19, he lost his entire left arm and his right hand in a railroad accident. Most people would lose all courage and determination after a calamity like that; but not Giovanni Sperandeo. He devised a leather strap to fit his right wrist, and with it, he learned to write, feed himself, and paint beautiful oil paintings. It took several weeks to learn to write his own name. He learned to write superbly.

To School at 20

At the age of 20, he started to attend grammar school to learn the English language, and graduated from township high in Collinsville, Ill. in 1915.

He then went to Washington university, where he studied voice and art. He graduated with honors in 1920. Sperandeo has become famous as a linguist and singer, and now directs the Apollo concert artists.

Tuesday afternoon, he held the Dixon high student body spellbound as he related his life story. He sang "Down Argentina Way", "Yours", "Annapolis", and numerous other popular songs in English, Italian, Mexican and Spanish.

The students responded so enthusiastically to his compelling personality that Principal B. J. Frazer kept the entire student body after school for insisting on so many encores. Sperandeo also visited Dixon about five years ago.

Montgomery Ward Co. Ordered to Include Membership Clause

Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt directed Montgomery Ward and Company today to comply "without further delay" with a War Labor Board order that the big Chicago mail order firm should include a "maintenance of membership" clause in a contract with an employee union.

The chief executive, in a letter to the company's president, Sewell Avery, said he considered "such a course of action essential in the interest of our war effort."

Montgomery Ward had rejected the board's order, handed down November 5, which called for a union maintenance contract and also for compulsory arbitration and a guarantee of wages and working conditions for a year.

The firm said, however, that if president as commander in chief, directed that the company accept the WLB's rulings, it would obey. It contended the rulings were illegal and unenforceable.

The firm had particularly objected to the maintenance of union membership clause, saying this was but a form of the closed shop.

Franco Denies Naval Bases to Germany

London, Nov. 19.—(AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Ankara quoted diplomatic sources in the Turkish capital today as saying that Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco had refused to grant Germany naval and air bases.

Spain, wedged between the allies in Gibraltar and across the narrow strait in Africa on one side and Germany along her northern frontier on the other, apparently is trying to remain strictly neutral.

Although the Franco government is friendly with the axis, which helped it gain power in the civil war, Spain's partial mobilization, announced two days ago, has been interpreted in informed European quarters as an effort to avoid fighting.

Ship Delivered Within 3 Days of Launching

Richmond, Calif., Nov. 19.—(AP)—The Liberty freighter which Henry J. Kaiser's Richmond shipyard launched in a record 4 days, 15 hours and 26 minutes last week was ready for service in an hour less than three days more.

Yard officials said the vessel, the 10,500-ton Robert S. Peary, was delivered to the Maritime Commission at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, or 7 days and 14 1/2 hours after her keel was put down.

The Peary was the 96th cargo vessel to be delivered from Richmond. Prefabrication of massive sections made possible the record speed in construction, three days under the best previous time.

Laval Made Virtual

foresight", explained that the chief of government was being given extended power so that he may "speedily deal at any hour and in all places" with France's problems.

Peta informed France: "We, Marshal of France and Chief of State by virtue of the constitutional law of July 10, 1940, decree that the Head of Government (Laval) outside of constitutional laws, has the power on his simple signature to make laws and issue decrees."

Canceling a previous decree which had designated Admiral Jean Darlan, now cooperating with the allies in Africa, as his successor, Peta named Laval to take over as Chief of State in the event of the marshal's permanent incapacity. He directed that within a month of such event the cabinet should meet to choose a permanent successor.

Of most immediate concern to the allies was the course Laval plans to steer in the matter of possible military aid to the axis.

Thus far he and Peta have not heeded the demands of the radically pro-German party of Jacques Doriot that France declare war at once upon the United States and Great Britain because of their occupation of French North Africa.

First results in Vichy of Laval's advancement were the quickly accepted resignations of Vice Admiral G. A. J. P. Auphan as secretary of state for the navy, and Robert Gibrat, secretary of state for communications.

Admiral Jean Mario Abrial succeeded Admiral Auphan, who was a supporter of Darlan. Jean Bichelonne combined Gibrat's duties with his present post of secretary of state for industrial production.

These men doubtless resigned in protest against Laval's new powers. They probably knew they were going to be fired anyway, since Adm. Auphan is known to be a supporter of Darlan. In any event it was considered significant that Adm. Abrial was given Auphan's job.

He undoubtedly is slated to use his prestige to retain in Algeria for the benefit of the axis. There also remains the question of the French fleet at Toulon. Darlan in his appeals has asked it to go over to the allied side, but it still rides at anchor within gun range of surrounding axis occupation armies.

Peace Move Reported
The proaxis policy of Laval now takes a new and more powerful turn, but just what form it will assume remained unclear. There have been reports that Laval is negotiating peace with the axis, perhaps as a forerunner of trying to place France formally at war with the allies.

These reported terms would give to Germany Alsace and Lorraine, provinces which already have been taken over by the axis. The Vichy fleet alongside the axis in an attempt to regain the French empire.

Segments of that empire now are occupied both by the axis and the allies. Japan is in French Indo-China, a fact that Vichy always ignores when speaking of "aggression" the "Fighting French" control other parts, the allies are in Morocco and Algeria, and both German-Italian and allied forces are in Tunisia.

Unless Laval eventually can cleverly propagandize the helplessly French people it is thought unlikely that his axis collaboration would take the extreme form of going formally to war against the allies. The constitution under the Third Republic, which replaced the Third Republic, Moreover, the constitution under which Peta assumed his powers never has been ratified.

Laval's regime has been notorious already for many outrights. Before the Germans took over the remainder of France the former butcher boy had turned over thousands of Jews to the Germans for deportation to the east. He also forced thousands of French workers to go to Germany.

An increasing anti-Semitic program already was in evidence to-night with a Vichy report that 154 more persons, mostly Jews, had been deprived of their citizenship.
Laval, who narrowly escaped death from a Frenchman's bullets more than a year ago has openly applauded the German repulse of the Commando attack on Dieppe, has protested United States bombings of German-controlled factories in France, has turned over a number of French ships to the Germans, and continues to watch his suffering country being systematically looted of foodstuffs.

Predicted Axis Victory
He does this in the hope of an axis victory, a victory he had predicted was certain to come in 1941.
Some French leaders had gone to North Africa in the hope of fighting on from there. He and Peta brought them back and tried to saddle them with "war guilt" in the unsuccessful Riom trials. In those trials testimony was introduced which accused Peta himself of military negligence in the years he headed France's military affairs.

Evidence that the new German Vichy regime expects allied air attacks on southern France was shown tonight in Vichy reports that Marseilles picture galleries and art museums had been closed, and that art treasures were being removed to rocky caves outside the city for safety.

A Japanese destroyer force off the New Guinea coast near Buna while allied ground forces closed within 25 miles of that Papuan beachhead.

Reports from New Guinea did not indicate what job may have been assigned to the eight destroyers deploying off Buna, although the noon communique said they apparently planned to aid the ground forces being pinned against the coast.

Observers recalled that in past operations the enemy generally has tried to hold positions rather than attempt naval evacuation when hard-pressed.

A notable exception, however, was the entrance of a similar destroyer squadron into Milne Bay on the southeastern tip of New Guinea last September when some remnants of their trapped and battered landing force was taken off at night.

Airmen Hit Hard
While the American and Australian jungle fighters pushed cautiously forward against little or no organized resistance outside Buna, General MacArthur's airmen hit the enemy hard and often throughout the southwestern Pacific theater.

American medium bombers continued their daily, destructive sweeps over the enemy's steadily shrinking coastal foothold around Buna, bombing troops positions and installations.

The U. S. B-25's teamed with Australian Buntfighters to renew the attacks on Lae and Salamaua, Japanese bases farther to the northwest on the New Guinea coast from which the beleaguered Buna garrison might be reinforced.

FEAR DRIVE IN CHINA
Chungking, Nov. 19.—(AP)—A Chinese army spokesman reported today there were indications the Japanese were preparing to drive into Yunnan province, southwest China, from French Indo-China.

This thrust, he said, would be coordinated with one from the section of Yunnan province adjacent to Burma which the Japanese occupied last spring. They have been stationary there since May.

The spokesman said the Japanese recently increased their strength in Yunnan by 12,000 men, bringing the total to 30,000, and at the same time bolstered their air forces at Wanting and other air fields in the occupied border region.

JAP EXPECTATIONS
London, Nov. 19.—(AP)—German broadcasts heard here today quoted Admiral Sankichi Takahashi, former commander in chief of the Japanese navy, as saying "we must reckon with further heavy fighting in the Solomons."

The broadcast added that he declared "the Americans obviously are planning to use the Solomons as a springboard for an offensive with a view to regaining islands in the Dutch East Indies."

Lt. Governor Cross Charges Saboteurs Try to Wreck Trains

Paris, Ill., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Lieut. Governor Hugh Cross blamed enemy saboteurs for "deliberate" attempts to wreck railroad trains in rural areas of Illinois and a neighboring state in a speech last night before the sixteenth annual state convention of the Anti-Thief Association.

"Within the past few weeks, three deliberate attempts to wreck trains were made," Cross said. "One of them took place right down in my own home section of the state (Jerseyville), where they tried to wreck a fast passenger train. The engine was derailed and it rolled down a 15-foot embankment."

"In an adjoining state two attempts were made. In one instance, 12 charges of dynamite were placed along the track and were set off just as a Diesel-engine train passed over it."

Cross said open spaces in rural areas were danger spots, and that state law enforcement officials and local sheriffs were seeking to combat saboteurs.

Talk of Hour Club to Elect Officers Next Monday Night

Holders of the first 50 memberships in the Talk of the Hour club to be sponsored this fall and winter in Dixon, in cooperation with community organizations and with world famous speakers and commentators to be provided by the Redpath bureau, will have a voice in the selection of speakers, Mayor Slothower stated today.

Elsie Mae Cummings of the Redpath bureau is in Dixon and is contacting prospective members. She will be at the club office, 74 Galena avenue, for a week or ten days and any person interested in memberships in the Talk of the Hour Club may contact her by calling 1696.

Each Talk of the Hour program will include a talk by an outstanding speaker and an open forum discussion in which all members will be privileged to participate. Not more than 250 dual memberships, 500 admissions, will be sold for the series, and not less than 150 dual memberships, 300 individual individuals, will be accepted in the club.

The programs will be spaced within a few weeks of each other throughout the season. Net proceeds will be turned over to the advisory committee composed of representatives from Dixon's leading organizations. The club officers will be elected and speakers for the series will be chosen at a dinner meeting to be held Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Hotel Nachusa. The first 50 members will be guests at this dinner and reservations may be obtained by calling 1696.

Sanders said he was in the rear seat of the automobile when the shooting started. He got out of the car and noticed Reif had fallen with a bullet wound in the head. He opened fire on the assailant in a running chase through the woods. He emptied his own revolver and Reif's automatic without scoring a hit. With his weapons empty, he escaped through the brush and the gunman fled in his car.

Sanders described the slayer as about 35 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighing about 170 pounds. He was wearing a winter cap, blue flannel shirt, and whipcord breeches. The back seat of the automobile was filled with camping equipment.

An inquest scheduled for last night was postponed until today. Reif, a former Milwaukeean, and assigned to duty in Florence county for the deer season, was employed by the conservation commission since 1932. He was a native of Switzerland, and a graduate of the University of Michigan. He was married and the father of three children—Albert, Jr., 10; Robert 9; and Donna, 4.

Austrian Battalion in U. S. Army to Be Formed
Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—A new infantry battalion in the Army of the United States to be made up entirely of citizens of Austria now living in this country will be organized soon, Secretary of War Stimson announced today.

This resulted, he told his press conference, from the appeals of many Austrian nationals for an opportunity to serve together in freeing their homeland and other nations conquered by the axis.

In Unusual Accident—
Dean Finch, vocational agriculture instructor at the Lee Center high school, escaped injury in an unusual accident Wednesday. While driving on the paved spur connecting U. S. routes 30 and 52, his car struck a horse which was wandering about on the right of way, breaking one of the animals legs. State Highway Officer Russell Gentry was called and destroyed the animal which had suffered a broken leg when struck.

Terse News

P. O. Installation—
Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Letters from home were not forgotten in the invasion of north Africa, Secretary of War Stimson reported today, and a complete Army postal organization had been set up almost as soon as the landings were made.

Farm Barn Robbed—
Dwight Hartzell, residing west of Dixon on the Lincoln Highway, today reported the loss of a can of milk and a sack of feed from a barn on his farm which was broken into during the night. The sheriff's office was conducting an investigation.

Final Action Postponed—
Nick Derjotis, 66, of this city, pleaded guilty to an information filed in Lee County court today in which he is charged with a statutory offense. Judge Grover Gehant continued the final hearing until Feb. 19, 1943, and Derjotis was released under bond.

Minor Traffic Accident—
Roy Seagren of Princeton, driving south on state route 26 one mile south of the Walton spur corner, collided with a car driven by Paul McCaffrey of Amboy Wednesday morning about 1:30. Neither of the drivers sustained serious injury but both cars were damaged.

Club to Sell Stamps—
The Dixon Womens club will have two members at the Woolworth store Saturday afternoon and evening to sell U. S. war savings stamps and bonds. An attractive booth has been set up in the store for the convenience of the public desiring to invest in these timely securities.

Jury Trial Denied—
Judge Leon A. Zick of Oregon, sitting in Lee County Circuit court today, denied a motion for a trial before a jury of the appealed case of the late George O'Malley estate, which was the subject of long litigation in the county court. No date was set for the hearing before the court.

Ortgiesen on Board—
Charles Ortgiesen of the Mid-State Shoe Co. of Milwaukee, Wis., was among the directors elected for three year terms at the annual meeting of the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturer's Association, recently held in Chicago. Aged Telegraph Boy—Springfield, Ill., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Milton Stout, 72, is pedaling around Rockford on a bicycle, delivering telegrams, the state division of public assistance reported today. Stout had received old age assistance for four years but asked that his name be dropped from the lists, the division said, after he was hired as a messenger.

Sees "Road to Morocco"—
London, Nov. 19.—(AP)—American movie executives here figure that they must have given Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower quite a jolt. Two nights—as it turned out—before he left for north Africa he and his staff were invited to a private screening of some American films. The first, by sheer coincidence, was "Road to Morocco".

Helms to Scrap Heap—
Two German soldier's helmets, souvenirs of World War 1, have been turned over to the Dixon salvage committee to be converted into munitions of war with the urgent request that they be sent back to Hitler as munitions against his forces. Mrs. A. J. Lockett who has two sons in the service and Mrs. Dwight Rolf turned the helmets over to the salvage committee with the above request.

Nuts Are Approved as "Victory" Food for Winter's Meals

Can Be Used as Real Part of Meal Says Frances Cook

Instead of being used solely as topping for salads or desserts as after-dinner snacks, nuts can be used as a real part of the meal, it is suggested by Miss Frances Cook, extension specialist in foods, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Right now domestic nuts of all kinds, English walnuts, pecans, almonds and almonds are being featured as a victory food special. It will continue to be emphasized in this role until November 21, Miss Cook pointed out. The reason is that the season's supply of these four types of home-grown nuts is estimated to be some 300,000,000 pounds of unshelled nuts, which is a record quantity.

Nuts contain both proteins and as well as serving as good sources of minerals and vitamins. They can be used to space out eggs, dairy products and meats, which is an important item for memakers who watch their diets to know. However, the precaution not to depend too much as meat substitutes for they cannot quite fill in from the nutrition standpoint.

Nut dishes to feature, according to Miss Cook, are pecan pie, peanut and carrot loaf, bread and nut croquettes and nut stuffing stuffing fowl and chops.

Pecan Pie
Use 1 cup pecans, 3 eggs, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup dark corn syrup, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon vanilla, 1/4 cup melted butter or oil. Beat the eggs, add the sugar and the syrup, then the salt and vanilla, and last the melted butter. Place the pecans in the bottom of an ungreased pan. Add the mixture and bake slowly in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 40 minutes. The nuts will be on the top of the pie filling and form a crusty layer.

Peanut and Carrot Loaf
Use 2 cups roasted peanuts, 2 cups chopped carrots, 2 cups butter or other fat, 3 cups flour, 1 1/2 cups cooked meat juice and pulp, 1 cup dry bread crumbs, 1/4 cup finely chopped parsley, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon pepper.
Make a thick sauce with the flour and tomatoes, mix well with the other ingredients and form into a loaf. Pack tightly in a well-greased loaf pan lined with bread crumbs, and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 to 400 degrees F.) one hour.

Bean-Peanut Croquettes
Use 2 cups bean pulp, 1 cup chopped peanuts, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, 2 tablespoons melted butter or other fat, 1/2 cup cooked meat juice, 1 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 cup dry bread crumbs, egg and crumbs for frying.
Cook the onion and green pepper in the fat, add the flour, stir and then add the tomato to make thick sauce. Add all the other ingredients except the egg and crumbs and mix thoroughly. Shape into croquettes, roll in beaten egg which 1 tablespoon of water has been added, then roll in sifted bread crumbs. Then stand in a crust, then fry in deep fat at a temperature of 375 degrees until the crumbs are brown. Drain on soft paper and serve at once.

Nut Stuffing
Use 1/2 to 1 cup chopped nuts, 1/2 cup finely chopped onion, or 3 sprigs parsley chopped, 1/2 cup celery, 3 tablespoons melted butter or other fat, 2 1/2 cups of bread crumbs, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper and savory seasoning, if desired.
Cook the onion, parsley and celery in the fat for a few minutes, add the bread crumbs and seasonings and stir until well mixed and hot. Add the nuts just before stuffing the fowl. One-half this recipe will stuff about six birds.

here's Dynamite in All Thanksgiving Fowl

Chicago, Nov. 19.—There's dynamite in turkeys and other Thanksgiving fowl in the form of live fats, George M. Eisenberg and Walter V. McAdoo, Jr., chairman of the salvage committee, Illinois State Council of Defense, today reminded Illinois housewives.

Roasted fowl, according to the economists of the Poultry and Egg National Board, yield from a five-pound chicken to four pounds from a 12-pound goose, in addition to gravy fat. A 10-pound turkey would provide approximately one-half cup (four ounces) addition to gravy fat.

Grease salvaged by housewives sent to refineries where its kerosene content is extracted to make explosives.

With the approach of the national Thanksgiving Day, we should once more remember the founders of this nation, who, in spite of adversity, found cause to give thanks. Today, we, like our forefathers, are living through trials and stress, but we still have the blessing of spiritual freedom, a God to worship freely, a land full of blessings, and faith, hope, and courage for facing the future.

Never before has it been so important that we at home build strong walls of faith, to fortify our nation spiritually for the future. Let us give thanks for all the benefits that have come from God's hands. Let us give thanks for the common faith which binds Christians around the world in the striving for the coming of God's Kingdom on this earth. Sunday is World Service Day. Our thoughts will go out to all peoples around the world who are worshipping the same God, and working for the same Kingdom.

Thursday is the regular meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service. You are urged to attend, as there will be an amendment to the by-laws presented at this time, for your vote. Please come and express your thoughts on this important matter.

MAKE YOUR MEAT GO FARTHER WITH PILLSBURY'S BARBECUE FRANKS
... happy eating for 6 to 8 at about 1 1/2 cups!
TEMPERATURE: 400° F.
TIME: about 40 minutes

- 1 1/2 cups chopped onions
 - 1 1/2 cups chopped celery
 - 3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
 - 3 tablespoons fat or shortening
 - 1 1/2 cups Pillsbury's Best Enriched Flour
 - 2 1/2 teaspoons salt
 - 1/2 cup shortening
 - 6 (1/4 lb.) parboiled frankfurters
- Imagine savory meat and vegetable flavors blending with those exquisitely tender, flaky biscuits! And remember, no matter what you want to bake, be it biscuits like these, or luscious cakes, cookies, pies, or the finest home-made breads you ever baked, Pillsbury's Best is exactly the flour you need. For Pillsbury's Best is a truly all-purpose flour. It's truly dependable, too, for it's BAKE-PROVED by actual baking tests 4 to 6 times daily during milling. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back.

1. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt; mix again. 2. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add milk all at once; mix only until all flour is dampened. 3. Knead a few seconds on lightly floured board to smooth surface. Roll out dough into 12x8-inch rectangle; cut into six 4-inch squares. 4. Skin frankfurters. Roll each in a biscuit dough square; seal edge. 5. Cut each frankfurter in half crosswise. Place cut side up over hot mixture. Bake in hot oven until biscuits are done. 6. Serve hot with remaining hot tomato mixture.

Dec. 1 Mail Deadline to Assure Deliveries by Christmas Time

The bulk of Christmas mail must be in the post offices by December 1 this year if deliveries on time are to be assured, according to Smith W. Purdum, Second Assistant Postmaster General. Mr. Purdum is responsible to Postmaster General Frank C. Walker for smooth and efficient air and railway mail service.

Unprecedented wartime demands on the postal and transportation systems, plus a prospective record volume of Christmas mailings, were cited by Mr. Purdum as necessitating earlier mailings than ever before. "It is physically impossible for the railroads and air lines, burdened with vitally important war materials, to handle Christmas mailings as rapidly as in normal times," Mr. Purdum said. "If the bulk of parcels and greeting cards are held back until the usual time—the period of about December 15 to 23—they simply cannot be distributed in time and thousands of gifts will reach their destination after Christmas."

In 1941, about 21,950 mail cars were required between December 12 and 24 to deliver Christmas mails—enough to make a train 270 miles long. This year, the extra cars needed to move holiday mails are largely being used by the armed services, and a severe shortage is in prospect.

Limited Transportation
The postal service usually borrows about 2,500 trucks from the Army and other Government agencies, and rents about 10,000 from private owners, to handle the Christmas mails. This year, it will be extremely difficult to obtain enough of these vehicles to meet even a substantial part of the need. The Army needs its own trucks and private owners are reluctant to let someone else use their tires.

Railroads are cooperating by converting some hundreds of steel box cars and similar equipment for mail transportation, and Joseph B. Eastman, Director of Defense Transportation, has ordered that unnecessary travel be curtailed to the limit during the holiday season. But these measures cannot assure deliveries of gifts on time unless the public cooperates by mailing early and thus spreading the transportation load over a longer period than usual.

Mr. Purdum called attention to the task of the Post Office Department in moving millions of pieces of mail every day to and from soldiers, sailors and marines throughout the world. This extraordinary job must be kept current, even while the holiday rush of mailings is handled. Also, he pointed out, the postal establishment is operating with many thousands of inexperienced personnel, employed to take the place of men called to the armed services. The new employees naturally cannot handle mail jam with the smoothness and speed of the postal veterans whom they replace.

In view of all these handicaps to the service, Mr. Purdum added, postal patrons should mail their gifts by December 1 if they wish to insure that their friends will not be disappointed at Christmas.

Soldier Gets Reward for Finding Brooch

London, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Private Lee Clary of Luling, Tex., who has been saving $40 a month out of his pay to buy a farm after the war, is $1,600 richer today—but not as a result of his savings.

Clary received a $2,000 reward for finding a $25,000 brooch. He gave Patricia Brown $400 for helping locate the owner, Mrs. Jack Lysaght, wife of the international tennis player. The rest he sent home.

Mothers of Amboy Boys in Service Will Be Honored

Patriotic Program Is Planned for Friday Morning at H. S.

A patriotic program will be given tomorrow at 8:15 p. m. in the Amboy Township high school auditorium to honor the mothers of boys in service living in the Amboy community.

Those organizations sponsoring the program—W. R. C., Women's Auxiliary, Red Cross, Boy Scouts, American Legion—in cooperation with Township high school will sit in a body. Dr. E. T. Houser of the American Legion post No. 253 is to be master of ceremonies.

Members of the local American Legion post will take care of the registration of mothers at the door. All mothers of the Amboy community are asked to participate in this program. If mothers are not present a relative or friend may register a service man's name by filling out a slip at the door. It is not necessary for mothers or relatives to register before the night of the program. The home economics class of the Amboy Township high school is making the service flag. A star will be pinned on the flag for each service man in the community.

The Up-to-the-Minute Man

Your Lee County Tuberculosis Association announces the opening of the 36th annual Christmas Seal Sale Monday, November 23, to continue until Christmas.

Dale Nichols, one of the outstanding young American artists, designed the 1942 Christmas Seal. The snowy country scene, with its farmhouse, red barn and horse-drawn sleigh, breathes the spirit of Christmas.

In discussing his design, Mr. Nichols says, "In all my work I strive to have my paintings radiate cleanliness and health. Therefore, I look upon my work in designing this year's Christmas Seal for the Tuberculosis Association not as just an unusual privilege, in that this great institution constantly works toward those objectives."

The Christmas Seal, one of our most blessed American traditions—its double-barred cross symbolizing man's victory over disease—takes on a new meaning this year, a martial meaning. Little though they are, they have a place among ships, planes, tanks and jeeps. In a day when we talk in terms of billions—the meaning of which few of us can grasp—it is comforting to think what one or two dollars can do.

Mrs. Marion Church, County Tuberculosis Nurse, who has recently been addressing interested groups throughout the county to explain the work of the Association, reports that Lee County citizens are aware, as never before, of the importance of this fight on our home front. She states that the Lee County Association should have no difficulty in raising the amount necessary to carry on its expanded program next year.

Second Trial of Alleged Indiana Murderess Starts

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 19—(AP)—Mrs. Caroline G. Payne, 45-year-old former newspaper executive, was summoned into Monroe county Circuit court today for her second trial on a charge that she killed Charles O. Mattingly, 41, an Indianapolis attorney and her former fiancé.

Mattingly, attorney-examiner for the Indiana Public Service Commission on July 5, 1941, was shot five times in the back as he sat with his wife, Lurayne, in the kitchen of a friend's home here. The shots came from an open window.

Mrs. Payne, at whose home Mattingly lived while he attended Indiana University, was arrested the same night and charged with first degree murder.

At the first trial she entered two pleas—innocent and innocent by reason of temporary insanity. The jury, unable to agree on a verdict, was dismissed. A second trial set for May 21 was postponed on a defense plea that Mrs. Payne was in ill health.

The first two or three days of the trial will be devoted to selecting a jury from a panel of 28 persons and a special venire of 125.

Asks Right to Operate Steamship Company

Washington, Nov. 19—(AP)—Overlakes Freight Corporation, a holding company, asked the Interstate Commerce Commission today for authority to take over and operate the contract carrier division of Nicholson Universal Steamship Company, a subsidiary.

Overlakes does not now engage in any operations. Nicholson Universal operates into 36 ports in Wisconsin, Ohio, New York, Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Ontario.

Under the change Nicholson would retain its automobile carrier division and the capital stock of the Spokane Steamship Company.

Christmas cards from Sweden, Norway and Finland are only now reaching the United States. Newspapers throughout the country have been reporting that local residents have received these cards during July and August—all having been opened by various censors along the route.

Fears of Shortages of Physicians Called Entirely Unfounded

State Health Director Cross Sees No Hardships for Anyone

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 19—(AP)—Fear of a shortage of physicians in Illinois as a result of the calling of draft-age doctors to military service "is entirely unfounded," Dr. Roland R. Cross, state Director of Public Health, said today.

Commenting on reports that the state selective service office is speeding the recruiting of 1,000 more physicians before December 31 to meet the Illinois quota of 4,000 doctors for the year, Dr. Cross asserted that "there is no shortage of physicians in the state at this time," and expressed the belief that no serious hardships would be suffered by citizens now or later.

"Rumors to the effect that some people will find it very difficult to obtain medical assistance as a result of the increasing departures of physicians to the armed forces are not only untrue, but they are sabotage against the public's morale," Dr. Cross said.

He predicted that the procurement and assignment service, an organization of doctors established to designate the physicians who are essential to industry and faculties of accredited medical schools, to provide medical services for the civilian population, and to determine the number who are committed to governmental agencies other than the Army, will solve the quota demands without undue hardship on citizens.

1,000 More This Year
Lt. Col. E. Mann Hartlett, state selective service medical officer, recently disclosed that 750 doctors from the Chicago area and 250 more from downstate must go into uniform before the end of the year to meet the state's quota.

Dr. Cross praised the sacrifices of physicians who have been called into service and of the older practitioners who have "assumed increased burdens as their part in helping to win the war."

"The general public must also make sacrifices in this respect, but they will be small," Dr. Cross said. "You may have to wait 15 minutes longer for a physician to answer your emergency call, and some rural patients may find it necessary to be brought to hospitals in order to get more prompt medical attention."

"However the sacrifices made will be nothing compared to those being made in enemy countries. In Cook county the ratio of physicians is one to 500 population and downstate it is one to 1,000," he explained. "whereas in Germany it is reported to be one for every 50,000 people."

Dr. Cross said that many physicians are still seeking permanent placement due to the abundance of practitioners in some communities.

Axis Report Attack on Allies in Africa

Rome (From Italian Broadcast) Nov. 19—(AP)—The Italian communiqué said today that axis air forces had attacked allied held airbases in French North Africa and allied columns "on the march."

(It gave no details to indicate either where axis planes had found allied forces driving into Tunisia or where the allied held airbases were situated.)

In Libya, it said, Italian and German movements were "developing normally." Anti-aircraft guns "effectively countered" British air operations and destroyed four Hurricanes, it added.

Two Illinois Soldiers Awarded for Heroism

Washington, Nov. 19—(AP)—Verlan M. Davis, Oakland, Ill., was one of five staff sergeants awarded the soldier's medal for heroism here yesterday for participation in the rescue of a crew of a crashed and burning bomber at Boise, Idaho, Sept. 21. The rescue was carried out as gasoline burned around the plane and its ammunition exploded.

Cpl. William A. Karnas, Joliet, Ill., at the same time was awarded a similar medal for aiding the rescue of injured men from a crashed and burning bomber in Indiana April 2, and was given an oak leaf cluster, equivalent to another soldier's medal, for heroism in a similar accident in the Middle East Aug. 2.

Steaks and Chops Becoming Scarcer in San Francisco

San Francisco, Nov. 19—(AP)—The steaks are somewhat rare in this war bustling bay area of hungry soldiers, sailors, visiting relatives, and shipyard workers. So also are the pork chops.

The meat shortage, growing steadily worse recently, became acute this week when 600 slaughterhouse workers left their jobs for two days in protest against asserted wage inequities, returning only after being assured of arbitration. There were no reserve supplies adequate to meet the emergency.

The sudden shortage sent San Franciscans to the obvious substitutes—poultry, fish, macaroni, rice, cheese and egg dishes, beans. Then canned meats, delicatessen supplies and canned meat soups began to vanish from shelves and counters.

Few restaurant menus yet have displayed dishes concocted from vegetarian cookbooks, but dieticians predicted they would appear before long.

Restaurant keepers said that war workers "want meat and think they're entitled to have it after working long hours with hard physical exertion. They say they're just as important as the Army."

A number of Dowagiac, Michigan, residents were recently visited by a Merry Christmas when the postman called. The greetings were not premature, but actually almost a year late. The delay came about through an error made last December when a pouch containing the mail was sent to the N. Y. General Post office. It was laid aside in the rush and confusion, and only recently was it discovered and sent on its way.

Free-Making Hints May Mean Saving if Faithfully Heeded

Less at Time, Keep in Refrigerator—
Say These Experts

From the men who ration coffee, rubber, and gasoline, came suggestions today how coffee makers can put more elasticity in their 38 per cent less coffee ration and get more "mileage" out of it (if you can get a pound).

When rationing goes into effect, 28 and each person over the age of 15 years is permitted to have one pound of coffee every five weeks, suggestions on methods of getting the most good out of every coffee bean have been given by rationing officials.

Following these suggestions, claim good coffee can still be had and in addition the supply will last longer.

Use fresh coffee—buy less time and more frequently.

Keep coffee in a tightly covered container.

Keep it in refrigerator or other cool place. It deteriorates less rapidly when cool.

Keep coffee pot immaculately clean.

Have your coffee ground as fine as possible for the pot you use to use. Finely ground coffee goes further than coarsely ground coffee.

Use accurate measurements instead of "heaping tablespoons."

Don't Boil Coffee

Don't boil coffee. It drives the very elements you want to serve the coffee as soon as made.

Make only the exact amount you want to use. Left over coffee is wasted coffee, though it can be stored in the refrigerator for use as flavoring—or for a cup of coffee, if you like it that way.

Extreme care in the use of this kind of coffee can lighten the ration considerably," OPA says. "Most people use more coffee than is necessary to obtain amount they actually drink, studies show."

Cuts Coffee 38 Per Cent

The individual ration is one pound for five weeks. This is a cut, added to the coffee rationed at restaurants and other places, will swell the yearly per capita consumption to about 13 pounds a year, OPA said. This is 38 per cent less than the amount consumed by consumers averaged from 1937 to 1941.

Further explanation of the rationing, which is quite apparent already to most people who buy coffee, OPA pointed out, imports of coffee this year suffered a heavy setback because of the war and resultant lack of shipping facilities to bring coffee from Central and South America.

Forces Get Big Supply

Total 1942 imports, if they hold the present rate, will about equal the 1937 total, OPA pointed out. The catch is that from 1937 to 1941 consumption of coffee increased 300 million pounds, according to OPA figures. Another reason less is available to the civilian is that great quantities to the armed forces.

After the war production board ordered a 25 per cent reduction in coffee for wholesalers last April, in order to conserve what was left for civilians, many persons began hoarding coffee, OPA stated. Hence rationing, which seeks to insure fair distribution of the limited supply to all consumers.

Voluntary Program of Meat Sharing Is to Be Undertaken

Chicago, Nov. 19.—The women's division of the Illinois State Council will carry the "Share the Meat" message to housewives throughout the state, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham and Rep. Bernice T. Van der Vries, co-chairmen of the division, announced today.

"Share the Meat," a program of voluntary rationing, was organized by the OCD, OWI, and the Office of Defense Health and Welfare Services. The program aims to alleviate meat shortages until the meat rationing program can be put into effect, possibly Feb. 1.

Housewives will be asked to limit weekly meat consumption to two and one-half pounds for persons over 12, one and one-half for children under 12, and three-quarters of a pound for children under six. Weights specified include bone and fat.

Beef, pork, veal, lamb, mutton, and canned meats or sausage made from those meats, are on the restricted list.

Poultry, fish, small game, and "variety" meats—kidneys, liver, brains, sweetbreads and tongue—are not included.

County nutritionists under Mrs. Kathryn Van Aken Burns, chairman of the state council's nutrition committee, and home advisers, are holding meetings in every county to outline the plan to local council representatives. Women appointed to local councils of defense and women leaders representing various statewide organizations will attend county meetings for training to assist local councils of defense to reach every family.

Rural homes will be circularized by neighborhood leaders of the home bureau.

Widespread Search Fails To Reveal Trace of Plane

Fort Myers, Fla., Nov. 19.—(AP)—A widespread search over the Florida Everglades and the Gulf of Mexico continued here yesterday failed to reveal any trace of an army medium bomber missing with six men aboard, officers of Page field announced last night.

Second Lieut. Donald E. Vail, son of L. E. Vail, Macomb, Ill., was aboard.

The ship was lost in a routine flight early Tuesday.

Dense Fog Cause of Accident Near Rochelle; 2 Hurt

(Telegraph Special Service)

Rochelle, Nov. 19.—Paul Kiefer, 32, of Cherry Valley and Walter Nelson, 49, of River Forest are patients in the Lincoln hospital here as a result of an automobile accident eight miles north of Rochelle on route 51 Wednesday morning. The men, both seriously hurt, were on their regular delivery route for the Continental Baking company of River Forest.

Authorities reported the car driven by Kiefer was going south on route 51 and was approaching a truck going north. The car following the truck did not see Kiefer's car in the heavy fog and attempted to swing out onto the shoulder of the road and the other driver, Glen Hedon, 21, Creston, swung out at the same time. The cars collided head-on.

Hedon, not seriously hurt, was brought to Rochelle by a passing motorist. The other two men were brought here by the Unger ambulance.

Kiefer suffered a broken ankle, chest injuries loss of several teeth, and cuts and bruises on the face and head. Nelson suffered a double pelvic fracture.

British Considering Bread Made of Wheat, Oats, Barley and Rye

Chicago, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Winter wheat conditions remain favorable, according to the weekly weather bureau survey, although in eastern sections of the belt growth has been retarded. Moisture is unusually ample in principal producing sections although rain is needed in the eastern Ohio valley. Very rank growth was reported in parts of the southwest where moisture is plentiful. Volunteer wheat in western Kansas is in excellent condition.

Broomhall, British grain trade authority, estimated the Argentine wheat supply for 1943 may total about 270,000,000 bushels, including 10,000,000 carryover and a new crop of 210,000,000. Home requirements are 100,000,000 bushels annually, leaving 270,000,000 for export. This compares with 234,000,000 bushels available for export this year and 209,000,000 in 1941.

British authorities are considering mixing oats, barley and rye with wheat to make the national flour next season, according to Broomhall. This would release some shipping now devoted to wheat imports.

Other guests were Mrs. Mabel Upah and daughter of Elburn, Iowa and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jenkins. A scramble dinner was served, a wedding cake and flowers forming table decorations. During the afternoon motion pictures were taken of the party.

To Pennsylvania

Mrs. Grace Carpenter who recently disposed of her farm equipment and household goods left on Wednesday to spend the winter at the home of her cousin Charles Dunmore, at Meshoppen, Pa.

In Signal Corps

Hugh Garrel who has been employed in Chicago, son of Mrs. Fayette Waggoner of Oregon, has enlisted in the U. S. Army Signal Corps and was inducted for active duty Tuesday on his 21st birthday.

Dinner Guests

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Fisher entertained at dinner Sunday Mrs. John Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brain, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Legenstrom and daughter Nancy of Rockford and Mrs. Harm Doeden and daughter Elizabeth of Franklin Grove.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Conway, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Conway, Peter Geyer and Miss Bertha Geyer were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brummer at Park Ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. L. I. McQuillan spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Rolland Morgan and family at Crystal Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harris and son Nelson visited the Harris' daughter, Mrs. Ernest Phister and family near Creston.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson and children accompanied by Mrs. John Raiton of Rockford spent the week-end in South Bend, Ind., with the Rev. and Mrs. F. L. Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Arbogast were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moore at Freeport.

Miss Grace Bent entertained a guest last week, Miss Lorraine Sprecher of Milledgeville.

Mrs. Frank Sauer was in Hollandale, Wis., the past week to attend funeral services for her brother, James Crossen.

Mrs. Emma Tice is in Plato Center, a visitor of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ackerson, and will attend the wedding Friday of her grandson, Bernard Ackerson. He is in training in the air corps.

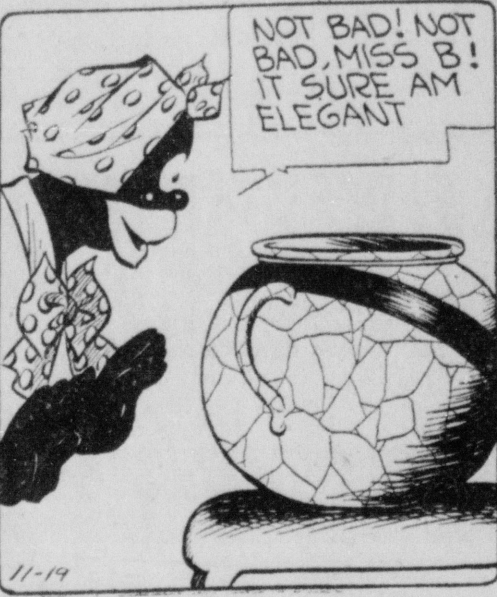

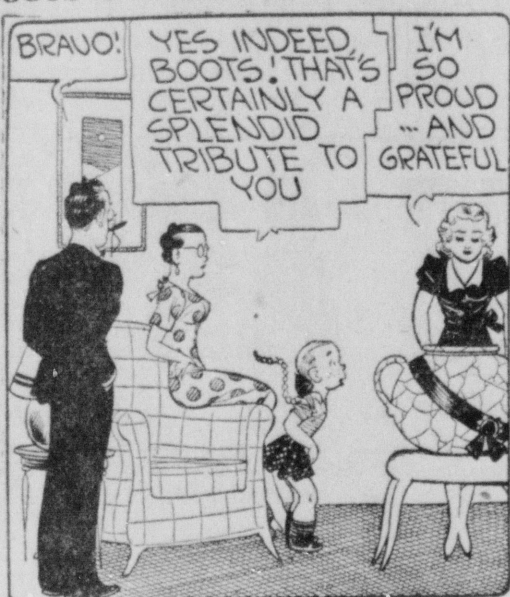

Mrs. Mae Davis and daughter Ruhmal left Wednesday night to spend the winter in Venice, Calif. Mrs. Davis expects to be employed in an airplane factory. They accompanied the former's sister, Mrs. Roderick Ware, and daughter Sharon on their return home. They came to Oregon last week to attend the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Van Vleet, parents of Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Ware.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles North of Pine Rock township have rented the residence of Mrs. Mae Davis and will occupy it during the winter.

Group of German Leaders Establish Contact With Allies

London, Nov. 19.—(AP)—A responsible foreign diplomatic source who cannot be further identified said today that an important junta of aristocratic German military leaders, convinced that Hitler cannot win the war, has begun to "isolate" the fuhrer in order to establish themselves favorably with the allies in the event of a stalemate, peace or defeat.

The foreign diplomatic source,
who said he believed his information was reliable, declared leaders of the junta included Field Marshal General Walther von Brauchitsch, who was dismissed as army commander-in-chief last winter;
Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock,
who was ousted in the midst of the drive against Stalingrad this fall, and their followers. Both these generals are reported to have disagreed with Hitler's strategy.

Advices from usually reliable quarters inside Germany and occupied countries, the informant said, indicated that two prime factors were behind the formation of the defeatist junta—increasing dissatisfaction with Hitler's intuition as a guide to strategy, and his steady nazification of the army and high command.

They were said also to hold him responsible for the defeat of Marshal Erwin Rommel in Africa on the ground that it might have been averted had he followed different tactics in southeastern Russia and taken early steps to reinforce the African forces with soldiers from the eastern front.

Subsidies, Higher Returns for Dairy Farmers Considered

Government Officials Study Threatened Milk Shortage

Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Special inducements to stimulate milk production may be offered dairy farmers if no other means is found of averting a threatened shortage.

Government food agencies, faced with the possible need of rationing principal dairy products because of rising war demands, debated proposals to offer such incentives as federal subsidies or higher prices.

The latter method would involve raising the price ceilings established by the Office of Price Administration at President Roosevelt's direction early in October.

Subsidies, on the other hand, would require between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 a year in federal funds. This estimate was made by dairy officials of the agriculture department who asked that they not be quoted.

Regardless of whether special inducements are offered, the production of milk and dairy products in 1943 is expected by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard to fall short of requirements of the armed forces, the lend-lease program, and civilians.

Restrictions Necessary
Wickard has told the War Production Board's food requirements committee that restrictions on civilian consumption appear necessary. Restrictions suggested included rationing of fluid milk in cities threatened with shortages, cheese and butter, and a 25 percent reduction in the manufacture of ice cream.

Agriculture department dairy officials said restrictions on civilian consumption probably would be less severe if dairy farmers were offered higher returns. They said milk production costs had advanced to a point where some farmers were unable to break even at prices they now receive under OPA ceilings. Increased returns, in the form either of subsidies or higher market prices, could be expected, these officials said, to keep these farmers in production. The question of whether special inducements should be offered may be submitted finally to Economic Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes for settlement.

Marine Writes of Aerial Battle Over Guadalcanal Island

BY SERGT. E. J. BURMAN
Marine Corps Combat Correspondent

Guadalcanal, Solomon Islands, Oct. 23 (Delayed).—Twenty Japanese Zero planes were blasted out of the skies today as marine corps fighter pilots walloped Nipponese airmen in a stirring air battle. (Previously announced in a navy department communiqué.)

Not a single American flyer was lost in the action. In addition to the Zeros, one Jap bomber was downed and three departed smoking badly, bringing to 315 the total of enemy aircraft brought down by our planes since the beginning of air activity in the Solomons.

It was a day marked by beautiful dogfights and thrilling acrobatics. Twisting, turning, rolling, looping, climbing and diving, like homicidal hawks run amok, the pilots performed all the combat tricks they knew to knock down their opponents.

Captain Bags Four
Individual high scorer of the day was Capt. Joseph J. Foss, U. S. M. C., of Sioux Falls, S. D., who bagged four Zeros, bringing his total to date to 10 Zeros and one bomber.

The Jap Zeros escorted bombers, which were forced to make their run at a great height to avoid the accurate hammering of antiaircraft batteries.

The dogfights were thrilling to watch. We saw one Zero explode into bits, another go down blazing and out of control. Still another Zero broke in two, making two separate flaming torches. Several Jap flyers took to their parachutes. One chute burst into flames immediately after the pilot bailed out of his flaming ship. Much of the action occurred over the ocean. Great columns of water rose high in the air as each Jap plane hit the ocean.

"It's a Good Feeling"
Capt. Foss modestly recounted his part in the battle when it was over. As he described it, he turned into a group of Zeros and nailed the first one from behind. He got on the tail of a second Jap plane and bagged it with a burst.

Split second later, he polished off a Zero which was on the tail of a Grumman, and then shot down his fourth victim, who had made the mistake of passing him from behind.

A broken oil line forced Capt. Foss to turn back to the airfield. When asked what impressions passed through his mind during the fight, Capt. Foss only said: "It's a good feeling to get them in your sights."

Drivers of First Truck To Alaska Are Selected

White Horse, Y. T., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Col. K. B. Bush, chief of staff of the northwest service command, has selected two men who will drive the first vehicles from the interior of North America to Alaska. The two soldiers and their army truck will take part in formal dedication ceremonies tomorrow on the Alcan highway.

Col. Bush is 49 and his mother lives in Quincy, Ill.

Changing Rules in Middle of Contest Must Cease: Smith

President of IAA Calls Washington's Jockeying Harmful

Chicago, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Earl C. Smith of Detroit, Ill., president of the Illinois Agricultural Association asserted today that "the periodic jockeying and manipulation of plans and policies in Washington that have such direct effect upon the price levels of farm commodities must be stopped."

Smith made the assertion in an address prepared for the association's 28th annual meeting in which he outlined a program he said was necessary to achieve maximum agricultural production. The farmers, he said, have no objection to reasonable ceilings but they want them invoked in a reasonable and practical way and "they want to know that the rules will not be changed in the middle of the game."

"What American farmers need," he declared, "and what they want and what they have a right to expect, is a permanent stable program assuring them fair but not exorbitant returns and they do not want such a program subject to change periodically at the will of a group of professional planners, price manipulators or controllers."

"Farmers want and are entitled to a practical interpretation and administration of the Agricultural Adjustment Act and they will continue to insist that this law be administered by men known to be friendly to agriculture, who know something of the problems of agriculture, and they want a voice in all plans when they are being developed."

Producers Must Plan
"The American government

and, more particularly the American consumers should awake to the fact that after total production needs are determined in Washington it takes a lot of long time planning and good management on the part of American producers to assure maximum production on the farms of the country."

Smith told the delegates that next to winning the war the number one problem confronting the nation is to bring about a well balanced and coordinated program for the best utilization of the nation's total manpower and resources. He said the recent order for deferment of skilled farm workers on dairy, livestock and poultry farms had considerable merit.

"I hope these policies will become mandatory upon those administering the selective service laws in their respective states," he said.

O. D. Brissenden, IAA director of organization, reported that paid membership in the association stood at 85,808, a 19-year high, as of Sept. 30 this year. During the fiscal year ending on that date 16,831 new members were signed.

RAID AIRDROME
New Delhi, India, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Wellington bombers of the RAF loosed many bombs last night across the runway of a Japanese airdrome at Melkita, in the Sittang river valley of Burma, and started a large fire, a British communiqué said today.

Hunt for Murderer Follows Cold Trail

Cassopolis, Mich., Nov. 19.—(AP)—The hunt for Max Pushkin, 42, alleged murderer of Mrs. Nora Shicks, 63, in a $400 robbery on Tuesday night, followed a cold trail today. The automobile belonging to Mrs. Shicks and her husband, Carl, which the killer was believed to have used in his escape, was found abandoned yesterday in Niles, near here. Beyond that, however, Sheriff Duane Remus said there was no trace.

HOLDS SYNTHETIC RUBBER CAN END USE OF NATURAL
Cincinnati, O.—A B. F. Goodrich company chemist predicted today that within two years after the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, 90 per cent of the rubber goods used in this country would be synthetic.

"Synthetic rubber is certainly here to stay," Dr. Robert V. Yohe told a regional conference of the Farm Chemurgic council. "The development of ever-rising quality and lower cost in synthetic rubber products will present a challenge to Mother Nature which she won't be able to meet."
Dr. Yohe contrasted the predicted American dependence on synthetic with Germany's, which he estimated to be "living on 75 per cent", even though Germany had been working intensely on the problem since the first World war.

HALT TRAILER PRODUCTION
Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The War Production Board today halted the production of all sizes of truck trailers.

Previously ODT had allowed the manufacture of trailers with a load carrying capacity of 10,000 pounds or more.
